Management Of Recreation And Nature Based Tourism In European Forests:

Management of Recreation and Nature Based Tourism in European Forests Ulrike Pröbstl, Veronika Wirth, Birgit H. M. Elands, Simon Bell, 2010-04-23 Here is for the first time a Europe wide overview of the state of recreation and nature tourism in forests It describes the current situation and conflicts in the different regions of Europe and provides solutions illustrated by good practice examples

European Forest Recreation and Tourism Simon Bell, Murray Simpson, 2009-05-07 In an increasingly urbanised world more and more people are turning to our forests and woodland for recreation and tourism Based on a study of forest recreation from across Europe the editors bring together the expertise of more than 80 leading professionals and academics to provide a clear and concise guide to best practice

Managing Visitor Experiences in Nature-based Tourism Julia N. Albrecht, 2021-03-19 This book focuses on the experiences of tourists visiting nature based destinations exploring current knowledge and providing insights into conceptual issues through the use of empirical evidence from five continents Presented as three topics the contents discuss tourism and naturebased experiences by looking at the role and relevance of nature and the uniqueness of such experiences The book identifies visitor management challenges and provides explanations for the solutions reached The final section takes a more overarching destination management perspective that transcends the tourism product or business level and focuses on destination and generic issues like indicators or marketing implications The book also includes research based case studies which contribute to an overall understanding of the core issues involved in managing visitor experiences in nature based tourism

Frontiers in Nature-based Tourism Peter Fredman, Liisa Tyrväinen, 2014-01-02 Nature has been a key attraction factor for tourism in the Nordic countries for decades The demand for nature based tourism has steadily grown and is one of the most rapidly expanding sectors within tourism across Europe and elsewhere This demand has created opportunities for nature based tourism to develop as an economic diversification tool within regions rich in natural amenities But nature based tourism is not only about tourism businesses and tourists visiting nature The natural environment as a basis for tourism involves many challenges related to local communities public access nature protection and the management of natural resources This book covers a broad set of topics in contemporary nature based tourism from Finland Iceland Norway and Sweden Areas discussed are innovation fishing rights and supply of angling recreation experience preferences national park attractions the cultural clash between established outdoor recreational use and new tourism activities the Right of Public Access as opportunity and obstacle preferences of tourism landscapes controversies around wilderness development management of hiking trails eco tourism certification and financing of recreational infrastructure This book was published as a special issue of the Scandinavian Journal of Hospitality and Tourism

Social Indicators in the Forest Sector in Northern Europe Tuija Sievänen, 2013-12-02 Forest related social values such as recreation values are growing in importance in North European countries Our urbanized societies need social services from forests and other nature areas One of the key ecosystem services is the recreation environment provided by forests Possibilities to enhance commercial recreational use of forests has been recognized particularly among private forest owners who have new opportunities for new types of forest related entrepreneurship This report provides a review of social indicators in forestry particularly concerning nature based recreation and tourism in North European countries The common interest among scientists and other experts was to discuss how to develop social indicators and to monitor changes to social benefits in forestry and forest use In all countries there is a challenge to develop monitoring systems to produce inventory data for statistics that are required in a way that provides comparable social indicators It is timely to enhance standardization and harmonization of social indicators for monitoring and management of sustainable forestry and forest use and for sustainable nature based recreation and tourism Ecotourism Buckley, R., European Forests European Environment Agency, 2008 Despite political commitment Europe is struggling to halt the loss of biodiversity by 2010 Forests as the hosts of much of the biological diversity in Europe are vital to this debate Any initiative designed to halt the biodiversity loss in Europe must take forests into account Forest Recreation Monitoring Tuija Sievänen, 2008 Forests and Society: Sub-plenary sessions, 2000 Leisure, Recreation, and Tourism Abstracts, 2009 Quarterly Journal of Forestry, 2000 State of the World's Forests 2009 Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations, 2009 Published biennially this title offers a global view of major developments affecting forests It places more emphasis on the demand side What will be the impact on forests of future increases in global population economic development and globalization State of the World's Forests published biennially provides a global view of major developments affecting forests The theme for the 2009 edition is Society forests and forestry adapting for the future The 2007 issue reviewed Progress towards sustainable forest management with an emphasis on the supply side in particular forest resources State of the World's Forests 2009 places more emphasis on the demand side What will be the impact on forests of future increases in global population economic development and globalization Is the explosion in global trade having positive or negative effects on the world's forests Will the forest sector continue to have a major role in providing livelihoods for rural communities This eighth edition looks forward Part One summarizes the outlook for forests and forestry in each region of the world FAO periodically carries out regional forest sector outlook studies in collaboration with countries and organizations in each region The results of studies for all regions are summarized and presented here for the first time in a single publication A main pattern that emerges is a strong correlation between economic development and the state of forests Countries that are undergoing rapid economic growth tend to struggle with immense pressures on their forests In contrast regions that have already achieved a high level of economic development are usually able to stabilize or increase their forest area However the factors affecting forests are numerous and complex making it difficult to draw simple conclusions or to make reliable projections Part Two considers how forestry will have to adapt for the future It begins with a global outlook for wood products demand to 2030 noting changing patterns in production consumption and trade Next a chapter on environmental services of forests probes the various market and non market mechanisms evolving to help forests and trees fulfill their environmental service functions of land water and biodiversity protection carbon storage and others A look at progress in institutional adaptation notes that many forestry institutions are having difficulty in adapting to rapid changes in communications globalisation and society s expectations Those institutions that are willing and able to adapt are more likely to be successful in the future Finally Part Two examines developments in science and technology which will continue to have an enormous impact on the future of forests and forestry Imagine a world in which trees are a major source of fuel for cars replacing oil Only a few years ago this seemed like fantasy but today the possibility must be seriously considered Legal Aspects of European Forest Sustainable Development Franz Schmithüsen,2006 State of the
