Making Middle Sea Cyprian Broodbank:

The Making of the Middle Sea Cyprian Broodbank, 2024-10-17 The Mediterranean has been for millennia one of the global cockpits of human endeavour World class interpretations exist of its Classical and subsequent history but there has been remarkably little holistic exploration of how its societies culture and economies first came into being despite the fact that almost all the fundamental developments originated well before 500 BC Mediterranean archaeology is one of the worlds richest sources for the reconstruction of ancient societies yet this book is the first to draw in equal measure on ideas and information from the European western Asian and African flanks as well as the islands at the Mediterraneans heart to achieve a truly innovative focus on the varied trajectories and interactions that created this maritime world The Making of the Middle Sea is extensively illustrated and ranges across disciplines subject matter and chronology from early humans and the origins of farming and metallurgy to the rise of civilizations Egyptian Levantine Minoan Mycenaean Phoenician Etruscan early Greek and ultimately pan Mediterranean How the World Made the West Josephine Quinn, 2025-10-21 An award winning Oxford history professor makes a forceful argument and tells a story with great verve The Wall Street Journal that the West is and always has been truly global Those archaic Western Civ classes so many of us took in college should be updated argues Quinn who invites us to revel in a richer more polyglot inheritance The Boston Globe AN ECONOMIST BEST BOOK OF THE YEAR LONGLISTED FOR THE CUNDILL HISTORY PRIZE In How the World Made the West Josephine Quinn poses perhaps the most significant challenge ever to the civilizational thinking regarding the origins of Western culture that is the idea that civilizations arose separately and distinctly from one another Rather she locates the roots of the modern West in everything from the law codes of Babylon Assyrian irrigation and the Phoenician art of sail to Indian literature Arabic scholarship and the metalworking riders of the Steppe to name just a few examples According to Quinn reducing the backstory of the modern West to a narrative that focuses on Greece and Rome impoverishes our view of the past This understanding of history would have made no sense to the ancient Greeks and Romans themselves who understood and discussed their own connections to and borrowings from others They consistently presented their own culture as the result of contact and exchange Quinn builds on the writings they left behind with rich analyses of other ancient literary sources like the epic of Gilgamesh holy texts and newly discovered records revealing details of everyday life A work of breathtaking scholarship How the World Made the West also draws on the material culture of the times in art and artifacts as well as findings from the latest scientific advances in carbon dating and human genetics to thoroughly debunk the myth of the modern West as a self made miracle In lively prose and with bracing clarity as well as through vivid maps and color illustrations How the World Made the West challenges the stories the West continues to tell about itself It redefines our understanding of the Western self and civilization in the cosmopolitan world of today Across the Corrupting Sea Cavan Concannon, Lindsey A. Mazurek, 2016-03-17 Across the Corrupting Sea Post Braudelian Approaches to the Ancient Eastern

Mediterranean reframes current discussions of the Mediterranean world by rereading the past with new methodological approaches The work asks readers to consider how future studies might write histories of the Mediterranean moving from the larger pan Mediterranean approaches of The Corrupting Sea towards locally oriented case studies Spanning from the Archaic period to the early Middle Ages contributors engage the pioneering studies of the Mediterranean by Fernand Braudel through the use of critical theory GIS network analysis and postcolonial cultural inquiries Scholars from several time periods and disciplines rethink the Mediterranean as a geographic and cultural space shaped by human connectivity and follow the flow of ideas ships trade goods and pilgrims along the roads and seascapes that connected the Mediterranean across time and space The volume thus interrogates key concepts like cabotage seascapes deep time social networks and connectivity in the light of contemporary archaeological and theoretical advances in order to create new ways of writing more diverse histories of the ancient world that bring together local contexts literary materials and archaeological analysis

The Connected Iron Age Jonathan M. Hall, James F. Osborne, 2022-12-09 An interdisciplinary consideration of how eastern Mediterranean cultures in the first millennium BCE were meaningfully connected The early first millennium BCE marks one of the most culturally diverse periods in the history of the eastern Mediterranean Surveying the region from Greece to Iraq one finds a host of cultures and political formations all distinct yet all visibly connected in meaningful ways These include the early polities of Geometric period Greece the Phrygian kingdom of central Anatolia the Syro Anatolian city states the seafaring Phoenicians and the biblical Israelites of the southern Levant Egypt s Twenty first through Twenty fifth Dynasties the Urartian kingdom of the eastern Anatolian highlands and the expansionary Neo Assyrian Empire of northern Mesopotamia This volume adopts an interdisciplinary approach to understanding the social and political significance of how interregional networks operated within and between Mediterranean cultures during that era Kaapse bibliotekaris, 2014 Issues for Nov 1957 include section Accessions Aanwinste Sept 1957 Turcica, 2007 Antiquity Antiquity Publications Ltd, 1994 Antiquity Osbert Guy Stanhope Crawford, 1994 Includes section Reviews The Biological Affinities of the Eastern Mediterranean in the Chalcolithic and Bronze Age Zissis Parras, 2004 This study investigates biological population affinities amongst Eastern Mediterranean Chalcolithic and Bronze Age human skeletal samples from sites in Cyprus Greece and Syria Age sex and non metric traits from the dentition crania and post crania were recorded Using the non metric dental data the biological affinities of these sites are determined The comparisons between the sites from southwest Cyprus show all three sites to be statistically biologically similar They also appeared to show some relation to a Syrian Early Bronze age site These findings contrast with the different material cultures of the regions which may suggest a biological relation based on ancestral contact between Cyprus and the mainland The Cypriot Late Bronze sites show a mixed relation with the Chalcolithic samples with some relations with the Middle Bronze Age Greek samples and Syria Where geographical distance is usually a factor in these types of comparisons this study suggests time may also be a factor
