The questions on any of the communications sheets or study produced in this writing examination are primarily for your own personal reference. No student has been, and no student will be, penalized for consulting the questions.

Print your name and the name of your school on this page above.

In separate answer sheets, indicate multiple-choice questions as fractions, that is, black oval for true/false questions; circle numbers for multiple-choice questions; and underline for completion questions.

There are no answer all questions on all parts of this examination. Several questions are for all multiple-choice questions, including those on parts B, C and D, except for separate answer sheets. Several questions are for all separate answer sheets on this examination. Indicate all answers on these communications sheets. Do not write on your answer sheet for graphs and drawings, which should be done on paper. Students will not be penalized for writing on the answer to the questions that are not to be scored. All answers must be on the communications sheets. Students should indicate all answers.

When you have completed the examination, you must sign the declaration printed on your separate answer sheets, indicating that you had no unauthorized knowledge of the questions or answers given on the examination and that you have written your answers honestly and truthfully. In indicating your answer to the questions, showing the communication sheets, and indicating your school name on the answer sheet, you are indicating that you have completed the examination.

Notes:

1. Communications or materials submitted must be submitted for you to be able to take the examination.

For more information, please contact your school or the state education department.

June 2014 Living Environment Examination:

Slow Burn R. Jisung Park, 2025-07-29 How the subtle but significant consequences of a hotter planet have already begun from lower test scores to higher crime rates and how we might tackle them today It's hard not to feel anxious about the problem of climate change especially if we think of it as an impending planetary catastrophe In Slow Burn R. Jisung Park encourages us to view climate change through a different lens one that focuses less on the possibility of mass climate extinction in a theoretical future and more on the everyday implications of climate change here and now Drawing on a wealth of new data and cutting edge economics Park shows how climate change headlines often miss some of the most important costs When wildfires blaze what happens to people downwind of the smoke When natural disasters destroy buildings and bridges what happens to educational outcomes Park explains how climate change operates as the silent accumulation of a thousand tiny conflagrations imperceptibly elevated health risks spread across billions of people pennies off the dollar of productivity fewer opportunities for upward mobility By investigating how the physical phenomenon of climate change interacts with social and economic institutions Park illustrates how climate change already affects everyone and may act as an amplifier of inequality Wealthier households and corporations may adapt quickly but without targeted interventions less advantaged communities may not Viewing climate change as a slow and unequal burn comes with an important silver lining It puts dollars and cents behind the case for aggressive emissions cuts and helps identify concrete steps that can be taken to better manage its adverse effects We can begin to overcome our climate anxiety Park shows us when we begin to tackle these problems locally

Excellence Through Equity Alan M. Blankstein, Pedro

Noguera, Lorena Kelly, 2016-02-26 Excellence Through Equity is an inspiring look at how real world educators are creating schools where all students are able to thrive In these schools educators understand that equity is not about treating all children the same They are deeply committed to ensuring that each student receives what he or she individually needs to develop their full potential and succeed To help educators with what can at times be a difficult and challenging journey Blankstein and Noguera frame the book with five guiding principles of Courageous Leadership Getting to your core Making organizational meaning Ensuring constancy and consistency of purpose Facing the facts and your fears Building sustainable relationships They further emphasize that the practices are grounded in three important areas of research that are too often disregarded 1 child development 2 neuroscience and 3 environmental influences on child development and learning You'll hear from Carol Corbett Burris Michael Fullan Marcus J Newsome Paul Reville Susan Szachowicz and other bold practitioners and visionary thinkers who share compelling and actionable ideas strategies and experiences for closing the achievement gap in your classrooms and school Ensuring that all students receive an education that cultivates their talents and potential is in all our common interest As Andy Hargreaves writes in the coda The opportunity for all Americans is to articulate and believe in an inspiring vision of educational change that is about what the next generation of America and Americans should become not about a target or ranking that the nation should attain From the Foreword by Archbishop Desmond Tutu Letting go of a system of winners and losers in favor of what is proposed in this book is a courageous leap forward that we all must take together Let this bold practical book be a guide and may you travel into this new exciting vista in which every child can succeed
