

Lesson 1: Context: Literary Traditions and Response in Days of Old when English was used

During the early years of the American colonial period in the Philippines, the English language was used as the medium of instruction in the schools. This was a result of the American colonial policy of assimilation, which aimed to create a class of Filipino citizens who were loyal to the United States and who could communicate with the Americans. This policy was implemented through the establishment of English-medium schools and the requirement that all students learn English.
