Model Estate (Routledge Revivals) Alison Ravetz, 2013-09-13 Quarry Hill Flats once both the pride and shame of its city of Leeds was an iconic Modernist symbol of the 1930s It marked the first use of a prefabricated building system for a large scale council estate replacing a notorious slum But it lasted barely a generation its complete demolition was announced as Alison Ravetz was finishing this study First published in 1974 this book is unique in its use of all estate records from conception to destruction as well as in its comprehensive approach including aspects usually missing in council housing studies notably the intimate experience of residents and a fraught long drawn out building period Ravetz argues that the Flats failure was due not to social breakdown as repeatedly alleged but rather to a rigidity of design and management unable to accommodate gradual incremental change This has continuing implications for the operation of bureaucratically designed and controlled social housing today Model Estate Alison Ravetz, 1974

Remaking Cities (Routledge Revivals) Alison Ravetz, 2013-10-08 This book published in 1980 is an iconoclastic account of one of the pillars of the welfare state British town and country planning between 1945 and 1975 Always a fine balance between central control and market forces it was challenged by strains within and between the environmental professions and protest by people dispossessed or alienated by re shaped urban environments Remaking Cities critiques the export of western style planning to the developing world and reviews initiatives rooted in different understandings of growth appearing in those years Nearly forty years on many of the same issues beset us notably the depressingly familiar inner city problem despite countless reports funds and programmes But now our infrastructure and services once publicly owned are privatised and fragmented and local government progressively relegated The very core of planning development control is being pared in a struggle to regain the growth which led to our current crisis This gives fresh importance to the need for new modes of creating liveable sustainable environments emphasised in this important work Land of Stone Roger Emmerson, 2022-12-06 Welcome to a journey of remarkable buildings and remarkable thoughts about these buildings shaped as they are by deep time modern ideas and Scottish culture Readers are sure to see new vistas in the land of stone open before them From the Foreword by

PROFESSOR ANDREW PATRIZIO What makes Scottish architecture Scottish What ideas drive Scottish architecture What has modern architecture in Scotland meant to the Scots Ever since the granny tops rattling and clanking in the wind to draw smoke up the tenemental flues from open coal fires caught my attention as a three year old architecture and its many parts purposes processes and procedures has fascinated me For me architecture has always had profound significance Land of Stone seeks to disengage widely held conceptions of what a Scottish architecture superficially looks like and to focus on the ideas and events philosophical political practical and personal that inspired architects and their clients to create the cities towns villages and buildings we cherish today Epilogue Peter Mitchell, 2021-12 RRB Photobooks are pleased to announce the forthcoming publication Epilogue The Demise of the Quarry Hill Flats by Peter Mitchell The book acts as a sequel to his 1990 publication Memento Mori which documented the dramatic impact of the Quarry Hill redevelopment project in Leeds. The book contains over 40 new images documenting the abandonment and subsequent demolition of the site adding a poignant final chapter to the 1990 publication and its later facsimile edition. Largely eschewing the archive material seen in Memento Mori, Epilogue takes a more narrative approach to telling this final part of the story. Mitchell is again the lone wanderer in an increasingly unpopulated and otherworldly landscape. Quarry Hill was a large housing estate in Leeds built in the 1930s as part of a great social experiment to accommodate an entire community of 3000 people. By the 1970s both the vision and the flats were crumbling and the decision was made to demolish.
