Torrie, 2018-10-11 From 1940 to 1944 German soldiers not only fought in and ruled over France but also lived their lives there While the combat experiences of German soldiers are relatively well documented as are the everyday lives of the occupied French population we know much less about occupiers daily activities beyond combat especially when it comes to men who were not top level administrators Using letters photographs and tour guides alongside official sources Julia S Torrie reveals how ground level occupiers understood their role and how their needs and desires shaped policy and practices At the same time as soldiers were told to dominate and control France they were also encouraged to sight see to photograph and to consume the country leading to a familiarity that limited violence rather than inciting it The lives of these ordinary soldiers offer new insights into the occupation of France the history of Nazism and the Second World War

Phosphorus Pollution Control Aleksandra Drizo, 2019-10-16 Phosphorus Pollution Control Policies and Strategies Deterioration and decline of water resources due to pollution caused by humans and their activities has become a universal health environmental social and economic problem Excess discharges of nutrients in particular phosphorus has been recognized as the most prevalent water pollution problem globally Moreover its perpetual occurrence and expansion creates imminent threats to water and food security Despite extensive research during the past five decades many key questions in eutrophication science remain unanswered This book summarizes the most recent policies and strategies for phosphorus removal and recovery from municipal residential and agricultural wastewater effluents and runoff into a concise and up to date volume The book will be of interest to environmental and water resources scientists and engineers consultants
