Climatic Design, Manual of Tropical Housing and Building, Part O.H. Koenigsberger, 1980 Design Primer for Hot Climates Allan Konya, 2013-10-22 Design Primer for Hot Climates offers a discussion of architecture and planning for hot climates The hot tropical and sub tropical regions contain most of the world s population and it is here that the majority of new buildings will be built For this reason this book concentrates on these regions but serves only as a broad outline of the climatic environmental and technological conditions The book begins with a discussion of climatic elements climatic zones and comfort This is followed by separate chapters on climatic design regional hazards e g condensation lightning storms earthquakes etc that must be considered during the design stage and factors such as site accessibility materials selection water and labor supply and building regulations and standards This book is meant not only for designers from temperate climatic areas but also for those who live in these regions in the hope that they will be stimulated to re examine conditions which may have become over familiar to them Gandhi and Architecture Venugopal Maddipati, 2020-07-28 Gandhi and Architecture A Time for Low Cost Housing chronicles the emergence of a low cost low rise housing architecture that conforms to M K Gandhi s religious need to establish finite boundaries for everyday actions finitude in turn defines Gandhi s conservative and exclusionary conception of religion Drawing from rich archival and field materials the book begins with an exploration of Gandhi s religiosity of relinquishment and the British Spiritualist Madeline Slade s creation of his low cost hut Adi Niwas in the village of Segaoon in the 1930s Adi Niwas inaugurates a low cost housing architecture of finitude founded on the near simultaneous but heterogeneous conservative Gandhian ideals of pursuing self sacrifice and rendering the pursuit of self sacrifice legible as the practice of an exclusionary varnashramadharma At a considerable remove from Gandhi s religious conservatism successive generations in post colonial India have reimagined a secular necessity for this Gandhian low cost housing architecture of finitude In the early 1950s era of mass housing for post partition refugees from Pakistan the making of a low cost housing architecture was premised on the necessity of responding to economic concerns and to an emerging demographic mandate In the 1970s during the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries crisis it was premised on the rise of urban and climatological necessities More recently in the late 1990s and early 2000s its reception has been premised on the emergence of language based identitarianism in Wardha Maharashtra Each of these moments of necessity reveals the enduring present of a Gandhian low cost housing architecture of finitude and also the need to emancipate Gandhian finitude

from Gandhi's own exclusions. This volume is a critical intervention in the philosophy of architectural history. Drawing eclectically from science and technology studies, political science, housing studies, urban studies, religious studies, and anthropology, this richly illustrated volume will be of great interest to students and researchers of architecture and design, housing history, sociology, economics, Gandhian studies, urban studies, and development studies.

A Genealogy of Tropical Architecture Jiat-Hwee Chang, 2016-04-28. A Genealogy of Tropical Architecture traces the origins of tropical architecture to nineteenth-century British colonial architectural knowledge and practices. It uncovers how systematic knowledge and practices on building and environmental technologies in the tropics were linked to military technologies, medical theories, and sanitary practices and were manifested in colonial building types such as military barracks, hospitals, and housing. It also explores the various ways these colonial knowledge and practices shaped post-war techno-scientific research and education in climatic design and modern tropical architecture. Drawing on the interdisciplinary scholarships on postcolonial studies, science studies, and environmental history, Jiat-Hwee Chang argues that tropical architecture was inextricably entangled with the socio-cultural constructions of tropical nature and the politics of colonial governance and postcolonial development in the British colonial and post-colonial networks. By bringing to light new historical materials through formidable research and tracing the history of tropical architecture beyond what is widely considered today as its founding moment in the mid-twentieth century, this important and original book revises our understanding of colonial built environment. It also provides a new historical framework that significantly bears upon contemporary concerns with climatic design and sustainable architecture. This book is an essential resource for understanding tropical architecture and its various contemporary manifestations. Its in-depth discussion and path-breaking insights will be invaluable to specialists, academics, students, and practitioners.

Third World Modernism Duanfang Lu, 2010-11-02. This set of essays challenges interpretations of the development of modernist architecture in Third World countries during the Cold War. The topics look at modernism's part in the transnational development of building technologies and the construction of national and cultural identity.

The Challenge of Change: Dealing with the Legacy of the Modern Movement Dirk van den Heuvel, Maarten Mesman, Bert Lemmens, 2008-09-15. Conservation of architecture and the conversation of Modern architecture in particular has assumed new challenges. Rather than attempting to return a Modern building to its resumed original state, the challenge of these proceedings is to revalue the essence of the manifold manifestations of Modern architecture and redefine its meanings in a rapidly changing world of digital revolution, worldwide mobility, and environmental awareness. This volume aims to provide a variety of platforms for the exchange of ideas and experience. A large international group of architects, historians, scholars, preservationists, and other parties involved in the processes of preserving, renovating, and transforming Modern buildings has been invited to investigate the paradox of the Modern monument and to reflect on the manifold dilemmas of change and continuity. The general theme is elaborated through five sub-themes. The sub-theme Change and Continuity addresses the tensions between change and continuity from a historical theoretical perspective Restructuring Cities and Landscapes focuses on the larger scale of city and landscape while Shifts in Programme and Flexibility draws attention to the scale of the building or building complex and questions limits of re use and flexibility The fourth sub theme deals with education and the fifth sub theme Progress Technology and Sustainability considers specific issues of techniques and materials British
