L'historiographie Tardoantique Et La Transmission Des Savoirs:

L'historiographie tardo-antique et la transmission des savoirs Philippe Blaudeau, Peter Nuffelen, 2015-07-01 Late Antiquity witnessed enormous cultural changes affecting all areas of intellectual life. Historiography is one of the most characteristic genres of this period and perhaps one of the most innovative ones. This volume seeks to understand how historiography both responded to the cultural changes and shaped these at the same time. Indeed a historiographical work aims at providing its readers with experiences from the past and at interpreting these in a meaningful way and often seeks to integrate this type of knowledge into a wider body of knowledge. This theme is explored from six angles in the present volume: 1 the relationship between historiography and rhetoric 2 the transmission of classical rhetorical culture to areas beyond the Roman Empire 3 the circulation of information traditions and documents in the whole area of the Roman Empire and frontier areas 4 the role played by intellectual groups clerical and lay in this process 5 the social cultural and religious variety of audiences 6 the impact of difference in genre on the engagement with forms of knowledge.

L Historiographie Tardo-Antique Et La Transmission Des Savoirs Philippe Blaudeau, Peter Nuffelen, 2015-06-12 This volume focuses on the role played by historiography in the selection, processing and transmission of knowledge in Late Antiquity. In particular the transmission of documents civil and ecclesiastical authentic and apocryphal is studied. The impact of differences in genre as well as how historical, anthropological, ethnographic, astronomical and medical notions are reshaped in new cultural traditions.
