Life and Gabriella; The Story of a Woman's Courage. Novel by Ellen Glasgow, 2017-01-04

Ellen Anderson Gholson Glasgow (April 22, 1873 – November 21, 1945) was an American novelist who portrayed the changing world of the contemporary South. Born into an elite Virginia family in Richmond, Virginia, the young Glasgow developed in a different way from that traditional to women of her class. Due to poor health, she was educated at home in Richmond. She read deeply in philosophy, social and political theory, and European and British literature. She spent her summers at her family's Bumpass Virginia estate, the historic Jerdone Castle plantation, a setting that she used in her writings. Her father, Francis Thomas Glasgow, was the son of Arthur Glasgow and Catherine Anderson. He was raised in Rockbridge County, Virginia, and graduated from Washington College (now Washington and Lee University) in 1847. Glasgow's maternal uncle, Joseph Reid Anderson, graduated fourth in his class of 49 from West Point in 1836. On April 4, 1848, he purchased the Tredegar Ironworks in Richmond. When news of the secession reached Richmond, Anderson promptly joined the Army of Northern Virginia, achieving the rank of general. General Robert E. Lee asked him to return to Tredegar Ironworks to manage the manufacturing on which Lee's victory would depend. Francis Glasgow later managed the Tredegar Iron Works. Glasgow thought her father self-righteous and unfeeling. But some of her more admirable characters reflect a Scots Calvinist background like his and a similar iron vein of Presbyterianism. Her mother was Anne Jane Gholson, born on December 9, 1831, at Needham, Virginia, and died on October 27, 1893. She was the daughter of William Yates Gholson and Martha Anne Jane Taylor. She was the granddaughter of Congressman Thomas Gholson Jr. and Anne Yates and a descendant of Rev. William Yates, the College of William & Mary. Some attributed this to her having borne and cared for ten children. Glasgow also dealt with nervous invalidism throughout her life. Citation needed. As the United States women's suffrage movement was developing in the early 1900s, Glasgow marched in the English suffrage parades in the spring of 1909. Later, she spoke at the first suffrage meeting in Virginia. Glasgow felt that the movement came at the wrong moment for her, and her participation and interest waned. Glasgow did not at first make women's roles her major theme, and she was slow to place heroines rather than heroes at the centers of her stories Her later works however have heroines who display many of the attributes of women involved in the political movement Glasgow died on November 21 1945 and is buried in Hollywood Cemetery Richmond Virginia Life and Gabriella Ellen Gholson Glasgow,2014-11-21 PRESENTS A SHAMELESS HEROINE After a day of rain the sun came out suddenly at five o'clock and threw a golden bar into the deep Victorian gloom of the front parlour On the window sill midway between the white curtains a pot of blue hyacinths stood in a cracked china plate and as the sunlight shone into the room the scent of the blossoms floated to the corner where Gabriella was patiently pulling basting threads out of the hem of a skirt For a minute her capable hands stopped at their work and raising her smooth dark head she looked compassionately at her sister Jane who was sitting like a frozen image of martyrdom in the middle of the long horsehair sofa Three times within the last twelve months Jane had fled from her husband's roof to the protection of her widowed mother a weak person of excellent ancestry who could hardly have protected a sparrow had one taken refuge beneath her skirt Twice before Mrs Carr had wept over her daughter's woes and returned her a sullen saint to the arms of the discreetly repentant Charley but to day while the four older children were bribed to good behaviour with bread and damson preserves in the pantry and the baby was contentedly playing with his rubber ring in his mother's arms Gabriella had passionately declared that Jane must never never go back Nothing so dreadful as this had ever happened before for the repentant Charley had been discovered making love to his wife's dressmaker a pretty French girl whom Jane had engaged for her spring sewing because she had more style than had fallen to the austere virtuous lot of the Carr's regular seamstress Miss Folly Hatch I might have known she was too pretty to be good moaned Jane while Mrs Carr in her willow rocking chair by the window wiped her reddened eyelids on the strip of cambric ruffling she was hemming Life and Gabriella Ellen Glasgow,1916 Life and Gabriella [microform] : the Story of a Woman's Courage Ellen Glasgow,1916
