Life And Death In The Camps:

Anthropology as Ethics T. M. S. Evens, 2009 Anthropology as Ethics is concerned with rethinking anthropology by rethinking the nature of reality It develops the ontological implications of a defining thesis of the Manchester School that all social orders exhibit basically conflicting underlying principles Drawing especially on Continental social thought including Wittgenstein Merleau Ponty Levinas Dumont Bourdieu and others and on pre modern sources such as the Hebrew bible the Nuer the Dinka and the Azande the book mounts a radical study of the ontology of self and other in relation to dualism and nondualism It demonstrates how the self other dichotomy disguises fundamental ambiguity or nondualism thus obscuring the essentially ethical dilemmatic and sacrificial nature of all social life It also proposes a reason other than dualist nihilist and instrumental one in which logic is seen as both inimical to and continuous with value Without embracing absolutism the book makes ambiguity and paradox the foundation of an ethical response to the pervasive anti foundationalism of much postmodern thought

Forgotten Survivors Richard C. Lukas, 2004 Richard Lukas presents the eyewitness accounts of these and other Polish Christians who suffered at the hands of the Germans They bear witness to unspeakable horrors endured by those who were tortured forced into slavery shipped off to concentration camps and even subjected to medical experiments Their stories provide a somber reminder that non Jewish Poles were just as likely as Jews to suffer at the hands of the Nazis who viewed them with nearly equal contempt

Politics and Suicide Nicholas Michelsen, 2015-10-08 Politics and Suicide argues that whilst the historical lineage of suicidal politics is recognised the fundamental significance of autodestruction to the political remains under examined It contends that practices like suicide bombing do not simply embody a strange or abnormal suicidal articulation of the political but rather that the existence of suicidal politics tells us something fundamental about the political as such and thinking about political violence more broadly Recent world events have emphatically shown our need for tools with which to develop better understandings of the politics of suicide Through the exploration of several arresting case studies including the Kamikaze bombers of World War Two Jan Palach's self immolation in 1969 Cold War nuclear deterrence and the suicide terrorist attacks of 9 11 Michelsen asks how we might talk of a political suicide in any of these contexts The book charts how political processes go suicidal and asks how we might still consider them to be political in such a case It investigates how suicide can function as politics A strong contribution to the fields of philosophy and international relations theory this work will also be of interest to students and scholars of political theory and terrorism political violence

Adorno's Concept of Life Alastair Morgan, 2007-10-15 An exciting new book examining the concept of life in Adorno's philosophy relating this concept to a number of key thinkers in the history of continental philosophy including Marx Hegel Heidegger Agamben

Ravensbruck Sarah Helm, 2016-03-22 Months before the outbreak of World War II Heinrich Himmler prime architect of the Holocaust designed a special concentration camp for women located fifty miles north of Berlin Only a small number of the prisoners were Jewish Ravensbrück was primarily a place for the Nazis to hold other inferior beings Jehovah's Witnesses Resistance fighters lesbians prostitutes and aristocrats even the sister of New York's Mayor LaGuardia Over six years the prisoners endured forced labor torture starvation and random execution In the final months of the war Ravensbrück became an extermination camp Estimates of the final death toll have ranged from 30 000 to 90 000 For decades the story of Ravensbrück was hidden behind the Iron Curtain Now using testimony unearthed since the end of the Cold War and interviews with survivors who have never talked before Sarah Helm takes us into the heart of the camp The result is a landmark achievement that weaves together many accounts following figures on both sides of the prisoner guard divide Chilling compelling and deeply necessary Ravensbrück is essential reading for anyone concerned with Nazi history

Life, Death and Sacrifice Esther Hertzog, 2008 From out of a world of death and destruction extermination camps ghettos starvation and disease there rises the figure of the woman in the Holocaust the core of the fascinating studies in this collection The importance of these research essays is above all their historical documentation of situations and events related to women in the Holocaust In the face of imminent death there was kindness to be seen self sacrifice and the saving of another's life And from a world that had lost all semblance of humanity came a sense of independence that welled up in the survivors infusing them with the spirit of life as they emerged from the inferno And what is for me the most moving the most exciting thing of all is the ability of those who endured to climb to their feet and shake themselves free of the killing fields to begin a new life to start a family Ayala Procaccia Israel Supreme Court Justice The book contains articles by some of the most prominent scholars in the field They tell the stories of women who were humiliated tortured and murdered their eternally etched in the memory stories of struggle and survival This collection of articles is based on two international conferences on women in the Holocaust held in recent years at Beit Berl Academic College Beit Theresienstadt and the Ghetto Fighters House in Israel Hertzog is a daughter of Holocaust survivors who never spoke about the subject at home She discovered a feminist perspective on the Holocaust at a conference at Oxford she attended almost by chance seven years ago That experience motivated her to speak with her mother and document their conversations in the article that appears herein

Life Death Memories Thomas T. Hecht, I had an uneventful childhood My family loved me The author's direct personal voice gives this Holocaust memoir its power Although the writing is direct almost monosyllabic at times the book is not intended for young readers It conveys a brutality that is sudden and close just as it was for the boy when he heard that his beloved older brother and his father had been shot to death and thrown into a common grave This is the story of a young boy who came of age before World War II in a small Polish Jewish Ukrainian town Nearly his entire family met their end by gas or by bullet He survived only by the barest of luck Among the most moving pages in the book are those the author devotes to the Ukrainian and Polish men and women who found the courage in the face of savage anti-Semitism raging about them to come to the aid of the Jewish victims thus risking death both at the hands of their neighbors and the German masters alike

Language and Revolution Igal Halfin, 2004-08-02 This work examines the role of language in forging the modern subject Focusing on the idea of the New Man that has animated all revolutionaries the present volume asks what it meant to define oneself in terms of one's class origins gender national belonging or racial origins Victimology, 1976 Critical Perspectives on Human Security David Chandler, Nik Hynek, 2010-09-13 This new book presents critical approaches towards Human Security which has become one of the key areas for policy and academic debate within Security Studies and IR The Human Security paradigm has had considerable significance for academics policy makers and practitioners Under the rubric of Human Security security policy practices seem to have transformed their goals and approaches re-prioritising economic and social welfare issues that were marginal to the state-based geopolitical rivalries of the Cold War era Human Security has reflected and reinforced the reconceptualisation of international security both broadening and deepening it and in so doing it has helped extend and shape the space within which security concerns inform international policy practices However in its wider use Human Security has become an amorphous and unclear political concept seen by some as progressive and radical and by others as tainted by association with the imposition of neo-liberal practices and values on non-Western spaces or as legitimizing attacks on Iraq and Afghanistan This book is concerned with critical perspectives towards Human Security highlighting some of the tensions which can emerge between critical perspectives which discursively radicalise Human Security within frameworks of emancipatory possibility and those which attempt to deconstruct Human Security within the framework of an externally imposed attempt to regulate and order the globe on behalf of hegemonic power The chapters gathered in this edited collection represent a range of critical approaches which bring together alternative understandings of human security This book will be of great interest to students of human security studies and critical security studies war and conflict studies and international relations World Jewry, 1964 Assimilation and Assertion Rachel Feldhay Brenner, 1989 Discusses the subjects antisemitism and the Holocaust in Richler's works The tension between Jew and Gentile is a constant theme giving the perspectives of both sides States Richler's belief that antisemitism is used today by Jews and Gentiles as an instrument for political power Describes Richler's own experiences of antisemitism the profound effect of the Holocaust on his consciousness and the place of Israel in the post-Holocaust world Points out his parody of antisemitism through role reversal where the Jew becomes the aggressor Compares Richler's work to that of other contemporary Canadian Jewish writers Surviving Hitler Andrea Warren, 2013-06-11 The life-changing story of a young boy's struggle for survival in a Nazi run concentration camp narrated in the voice of Holocaust survivor Jack Mandelbaum When twelve year old Jack Mandelbaum is separated from his family and shipped off to the Blechhammer concentration camp his life becomes a never ending nightmare With minimal food to eat and harsh living conditions threatening his health Jack manages to survive by thinking of his family In this Robert F Silbert Honor book readers will glimpse the dark reality of life during the Holocaust and how one boy made it out alive William Allen White Award Winner Robert F Silbert Honor ALA Notable Children s Book VOYA Nonfiction Honor Book

Facing Death Sarah K. Pinnock, 2016-12-05 What do we learn about death from the Holocaust and how does it impact our responses to mortality today Facing Death Confronting Mortality in the Holocaust and Ourselves brings together the work of eleven Holocaust and genocide scholars who address these difficult questions convinced of the urgency of further reflection on the Holocaust as the last survivors pass away The volume is distinctive in its dialogical and introspective approach where the contributors position themselves to confront their own impending death while listening to the voices of victims and learning from their life experiences Broken into three parts this collection engages with these voices in a way that is not only scholarly but deeply personal The first part of the book engages with Holocaust testimony by drawing on the writings of survivors and witnesses such as Elie Wiesel Jean Am ry and Charlotte Delbo including rare accounts from members of the Sonderkommando Reflections of post Holocaust generations the children and grandchildren of survivors are housed in the second part addressing questions of remembrance and memorialization The concluding essays offer intimate self reflection about how engagement with the Holocaust impacts the contributors lives faiths and ethics In an age of continuing atrocities this volume provides careful attention to the affective dimension of coping with death in particular how loss and grief are deferred or denied narrated and passed along
