Christ the Representative Reinhold

Bernhardt, 2025-10-30 This book explores how the person and salvific significance of Jesus Christ can be understood within today's secular and religiously plural world. Rather than adopting an exclusivist approach, it presents Christology in a manner that steers clear of both rigid absolutism and reductive relativism. At its core lies a thought-provoking question: how might Christology be interpreted not in opposition to but in dialogue with other religious traditions? Engaging with biblical sources often overlooked strands of theological heritage and contemporary theological discourse, the book offers a fresh perspective on the concept of incarnation. It reinterprets it as representation moving beyond the traditional doctrine of Christ's two natures towards a more dynamic understanding of two fundamental relationships: Jesus' relationship with God and his relationship with humanity. This work was originally published in German as Jesus Christus Repräsentant Gottes by Theologischer Verlag Zürich TVZ in 2021. This English edition has been translated from the original and adapted to the context of Anglo-American theology and religious studies.

Committed Worship: Adult conversion and initiation Donald L. Gelpi, 1993 Volume II develops a sacramental theology that addresses the needs of all adult Christians. The chapters on Marriage show how conversion both humanizes and Christianizes human sexuality, providing the context for a foundational rethinking of the meaning of the context for a foundational rethinking of the meaning of Christian Marriage. The discussion of Orders examines the responsibilities of ordained leaders and throws light on the rise of clericalism and on the meaning of priestly identity and ministry, in addition to clarifying the relationship between the priesthood of the laity and that of the ordained. A discussion of Christian nurture explains the practical and theoretical meaning of infant Baptism. This volume also examines the three sacraments that most foster ongoing conversion: Reconciliation, Anointing, and Eucharist. After situating each of these rituals in its Biblical and historical setting, the author shows how each contributes to ongoing Christian conversion.

A Brush with God Peter Pearson, 2005-10 Step by step instructions for painting icons from original drawings through finished product. For more than a thousand years, Eastern Christians have used their hands and hearts to create icons proclaiming God's reality in a visible and breathtakingly beautiful way. This ancient art is enjoying a renewed interest in the West as people of faith create icons and use them to meditate on mysteries for which there are no words. A Brush with God is a guide to painting icons and using them in prayer. Written with warmth and energy, it describes the history of icons and examines why they've been a spiritual tool for so many centuries. Written from a uniquely Western perspective, the book guides artists from novices to professionals through the process of icon painting using traditional techniques but employing contemporary materials. Included are eight full-color plates of the artist's icons.

God Sent His Son Cardinal Christoph Schönborn, 2010-01-01 In this work of Christology, Cardinal Christoph Schönborn, a world-renowned theologian, takes as his starting point the Apostle Paul's statement: "But when the time had fully come, God sent for his Son, born of woman, born under the law, so that we might receive adoption as sons" (Gal 4:4-5). Based on many years of lecturing on Christology, Cardinal Schönborn's work moves from the solid conviction of faith that Jesus of Nazareth is the Messiah of Israel the Son of the Living God through the development of the Church's understanding of this truth to the consideration of contemporary issues and the views of various modern theologians Cardinal Schonborn sees Christology as based on the original Illumination granted by the Father in manifesting his Son which divides as if through a prism into a rainbow of Christological themes Christology he writes in every phase of its development follows its path by this light in thy light do we see light Ps 36 10 Christology is always faith seeking understanding trying to understand that to which the believer already says Yes God Sent His Son has the comprehensiveness and scholarly precision of a textbook but the insights and personal relevance of a work of spirituality It carefully explores ancient and medieval questions but also modern issues of Christology

The Transgression of the Integrity of God Craig Keen, 2012-03-01 In this dark when we all talk at once some of us must learn to whistle In this comprehensive collection of his work Craig Keen's voice emerges as that of a theologian who has indeed learned to whistle In a day when much of what passes for academic theology is careful to maintain a safe distance from any determinate act of faith or work of praise Keen evinces a single minded determination to think and to speak to write and to live doxologically And whether writing or lecturing teaching or conversing Keen understands theology to be nothing less than an invitation to work out one's faith with fear and trembling Throughout this volume Keen argues that the life death and resurrection of Jesus disrupt all metaphysical attempts to determine the reality of God and suggests instead that theology is to be done liturgically and eucharistically as the work of a people whose labor is carried out with open hands free from all attempts to grasp and control Keen discusses doctrinal issues the Trinity incarnation creation as well as a number of critical theological concerns church and culture justice holiness Christian education in this light The result is a profound set of reflections on the ways in which the word of the cross simultaneously transgresses our constructions of God and gives us to live transgressively in love
