Critically Examining the Case Against the 1998 Human Rights Act Frederick Cowell, 2017-09-13 Since its inception in 1998 the Human Rights Act HRA has come in for a wide variety of criticism on legal constitutional political and cultural grounds More recently this criticism escalated significantly as politicians have seriously considered proposals for its abolition This book examines the main arguments against the HRA and the issues which have led to public hostility against the protection of human rights The first part of the book looks at the legal structures and constitutional aspects of the case against the HRA including the criticism that the HRA is undemocratic and is used by judges to subvert the will of parliament The second part of the book looks at specific issues such as immigration and terrorism where cases involving the HRA have triggered broader public concerns about the protection of human rights The final section of this book looks at some of the structural issues that have generated hostility to the HRA such as media coverage and the perception of the legal profession This book aims to unpick the complex climate of hostility that the HRA has faced and examine the social political and legal forces that continue to inform the case against the HRA

Fragmentation and the European Patent System Karen Walsh, 2022-08-11 This book provides an in depth study on current perceptions of and responses to fragmentation in the European patent system EPS For decades attempts have been made to address this fragmentation by introducing a unitary patent system The most recent attempt the EU unitary patent system will be the first of its kind It is expected to significantly change the EPS However rather than reducing existing fragmentation it will likely add to it Based on an analysis of the current and forthcoming system the book argues that the inherent nature of fragmentation within the EPS needs to be recognised and suggests that a multifaceted approach is required to respond to it Uniquely it draws on work regarding fragmentation outside of the patent and intellectual property regimes gaining insights from both European law making and the international legal system These insights are used to investigate current responses to fragmentation in the EPS Interpretations of substantive patent law are examined including claim construction Actavis v Eli Lilly exceptions to patentability related to uses of human embryos for industrial or commercial purposes WARF Br stle ISCC and products resulting from essentially biological processes Broccoli and Tomatoes II G3 19 Attempts towards convergence in these areas have had mixed results and in some instances fragmentation may be necessary However similar techniques to those applied in the international legal system to respond to fragmentation are being used in the EPS and where this is seen it has been to good effect It is argued that these methods should be recognised structured and promoted to make our response to fragmentation more effective Fragmentation and the European Patent System will be of interest to academics students and practitioners looking for a new perspective on the EPS
