

K-2 and K-6 DIRECT VENT with FLATGRATE UNIT KEYSTOKER BOILER INSTLLATION INSTRUCTIONS

Through these instructions we will try to guide you on a step by step procedure for installing, adjusting and operating of your new KEYSTOKER stoker boiler unit.

Selection of location. Keystoker boilers are available with fire door on the right or left side. When you stand at the stoker end of the boiler and look directly over top of boiler toward stack end, you may choose to have a fire door on the right or left side of boiler. Selecting a position to make this door accessible is important. When door side must be placed toward a wall, 30" clearance is recommended for easy fire and ash door access. Clearance from wall at stack end should be 18" to permit removal of water heating coil if necessary. Clearance on blank and hopper sides should be 6".

Setting up boiler. Place boiler in desired position. We strongly recommend placing steel shims or bricks under each corner of boiler to allow an air space, to prevent moisture from accumulating and rusting base of boiler. Using a level, plumb stoker end of the boiler, adding steel shims as necessary to plumb the stoker end of the boiler. Failure to do this will change pitch on stoker unit and may have adverse effects when burning coal. Again with level, check top of boiler from side to side, adding shims as necessary to level boiler. Do not place shims completely under boiler. Allow 1" to 2" of shims to extend out from under the boiler. Shims will then be used as a base to rest insulated jacket upon.

Supply & Return piping system. The top of you boiler has at least 4 openings. The largest opening is the feed line to your radiation. Since this outlet has a drop tube welded inside the boiler, you must use it for your radiation supply line. Even thou it may be necessary to bush down to a smaller size, we recommend starting with 1 1/4" pipe and installing a 1 1/4" x 1 1/4" x 1" tee in supply line to be used for a by-pass loop. (You may now make your piping connections from feed outlet on boiler to flow valve.

You may use either of the large openings on the bottom of the stack end of the boiler as your return. Select the side that will allow convenient access to the circulator for future servicing. Install return piping and circulator, again referring to (Installation Diagram Pg 7) for location of by-pass loop. Your 1 1/4" x 1 1/4" x 1" tee must be installed below circulator. (See Installation Diagram Pg 6).

Install by-pass loop as per (Installation Diagram pg 6) with 1" pipe size. Place a tee 1" x 1/2" F x 1" in by-pass loop to allow installation of immersion well for the 4006B Honeywell Hi Limit control to extend into full water flow.
