Keystone Coal Industry Manual ,2005 Catalog of Copyright Entries. Part 1. [B] Group 2. Pamphlets, Etc. New Series
Library of Congress. Copyright Office,1946 Regional Data to Support Biodiversity Assessments ,2005 Spatially explicit data on the location of species across broad geographic areas greatly facilitate effective conservation planning on lands managed for multiple uses The importance of these data notwithstanding our knowledge about the geography of biodiversity is remarkably incomplete An important factor contributing to our ignorance is that much of the biodiversity data are not readily accessible because they are dispersed across many institutions and often have not been digitized This report documents our efforts to address these conservation planning constraints We have compiled extant data on predicted species distributions and more than 680 000 occurrence records for terrestrial vertebrates and butterflies into a single digital database for general use in conducting geographically broad biodiversity assessments across a two state area Arizona and New Mexico that defines the Southwestern Region of the USDA Forest Service These data represent one of the most complete databases on species occurrence to be compiled for the Southwest Our objectives are twofold 1 to document the types sources and characteristics of the data comprising the biodiversity database and 2 to illustrate the utility of the data in addressing applied conservation problems across the Southwestern Region We report on three case studies that illustrate how the data can be used to generate simple distribution maps using both point locations and predicted ranges describe the patterns of species richness for selected taxa across the Southwest and provide an example of how managers may use the data to identify where potential resource conflicts may be particularly important on National Forest System lands
