3 Subject Content

3.1 – AS Unit 1 ENGB1 Categorising Texts

Unit content

The aim of this unit is to introduce candidates to methods of exploring and understanding spoken and written language in use. Candidates will be examined on their understanding of the way purposes, audiences and contexts impact upon language production and reception.

Candidates will be required to use linguistic methods to analyse and investigate a variety of texts taken from everyday sources. The following areas of language should form the basis for their study of these methods:

- Lexis
  the vocabulary system; meaning at word and phrase level

- Grammar
  the structural relationships within and between sentences and utterances

- Phonetics/Phonology
  the sounds of English, how they are produced and how they are described, including aspects of prosody

- Pragmatics
  the ways in which social conventions and implied meanings are encoded in spoken and written language

- Discourse
  (i) longer stretches of text, looking particularly at aspects of cohesion
  (ii) the way texts create identities for particular individuals, groups or institutions e.g. the discourses of law, politics, the media

- Graphology
  language as a semiotic system, creating meaning through textual design, signs and images

In addition candidates should study the following related concepts:

- register
  situational variation and register: how language varies in relation to audiences, purposes and contexts

- mode
  how language may vary as a consequence of the channel of communication (speech, writing and mixed modes)

- idiolect
  the language style acquired by individuals as a result of their personal characteristics, systems of belief and social experience

- dialect
  the variations in language produced as a result of local community and regional diversity

- sociolect
  language variations produced by the effects of education, socio-economic class, systems of belief, occupation and membership of social groups

Section A – Text Varieties

This section uses a generic question designed to test candidates' ability to explore the ways in which varieties of data can be grouped using the knowledge they have gained during their studies. The following list of possible 'groupings' should form the basis of their preparation for this task:

- purpose
- audience
- genre
- formality
- speech
- writing
- multimodality
- representation
- linguistic areas (e.g. lexis, grammar, phonetics / phonology etc)

This list is not intended to be exhaustive, and other interesting groupings may be pursued in the light of the data presented to the candidates in the examination. However, groupings led solely by social contexts (e.g. power, gender and technology) should be avoided, as this is the explicit focus of Section B.
