Watson, 2017-03-08 Learning Begins written by a teacher for teachers translates current brain research into practical classroom strategies Because students learn with their brains it simply makes sense for teachers to explore educational psychology and neuroscience And yet information in these fields can be daunting and contradictory Worse still few researchers can clearly explain the specific classroom uses of their remarkable discoveries Learning Begins both explains this research and makes it useful for teachers and administrators Part I investigates the science of working memory a cognitive capacity essential to all school work When teachers recognize the many classroom perils that can overwhelm working memory they can use research aligned strategies to protect it and thereby promote student learning Part II reveals the complexities of student attention By understanding the three neural sub processes that create attention teachers can structure their classrooms and their lessons to help students focus on and understand new material Written in a lively and approachable voice based on years of classroom experience and a decade of scientific study Learning Begins makes educational psychology and neuroscience clear and useful in schools and classrooms

Health Promotion in Schools, Universities, Workplaces, and Communities Graça S. Carvalho, Emily

Darlington, Teresa Vilaça, 2024-12-17 Health education well being improvement and advocacy are effective health promotion strategies among cutting edge Public Health practices Salutogenic perspectives rooted in ecological models have taken their rightful place to empower individuals and communities to change their life ecosystems and preserve and improve their health It is imperative to shift from targeting protective or risk factors which have linear causal relationships with health conditions and or comorbidities and encompass a systemic understanding of the role of health determinants in creating health Individual collective and structural ecological approaches can better reduce health inequities Moreover engaging the presumed beneficiaries from such strategies ensures that actual needs are identified and choices are context specific It improves the whole implementation process as well as its results Higher levels of participation such as co creation imply a bottom up voluntary collaborative process rooted in values of diversity mutual trust openness autonomy freedom and respect as well as shared expertise responsibility and decision making which are essential values in co creating health promotion
