Letters To A Friend Written To Mrs Ezra S Carr 1866 1879:

Letters to a Friend John Muir, 2006-06-01 I wish that you could have seen the edge of the snow cloud which hovered oh so soothingly down to the grand Pilot Peak brows discharging its heaven begotten snows with such unmistakable gentleness and moving perhaps with conscious love from pine to pine as if bestowing separate and independent blessings upon each In a few hours we climbed under and into this glorious storm cloud What a harvest of crystal flowers and what wind songs were gathered from the spiry firs and the long fringy arms of the Lambert pine from Yosemite 1871 Perhaps the most important of the founders of the modern conservation movement and an immense influence on animal rights philosophies John Muir was a champion of the preservation of unspoiled wilderness His studies and surveys of Yosemite Valley and the Sierra Nevada mountains in the late 19th century and his love of their untamed beauty led directly to federal protection of vast ranges of virgin Western lands This collection of letters Muir wrote as a university student in the 1860s and 70s to his spiritual mother botanist Mrs Ezra Carr offer a fascinating look at the legendary naturalist as a young man Dispatched mostly from Yosemite Valley where he was working as a sheepherder they reveal the shaping of the philosophies that would later dominate Muir's work A legend of the American West and the careful guardianship of the environment as well as the freedom the natural world represents Muir's writings are must reading for anyone who appreciates the wild splendor of our planet Also available from Cosimo Classics Muir's Studies of the Sierra and Steep Trails OF INTEREST TO fans of John Muir's life and work armchair naturalists AUTHOR BIO Scottish American naturalist explorer and writer JOHN MUIR 1838 1914 helped found the Sierra Club in 1892 and served as its first president He wrote numerous articles for such publications as Atlantic Monthly Harper's and the New York Tribune among his many books are The Mountains of California 1894 Our National Parks 1901 The Yosemite 1912 and Travels in Alaska 1915 Letters to a Friend John Muir, 2018-05-22 Excerpt from Letters to a Friend Written to Mrs Ezra S Carr 1866 1879 I wish Mrs Carr that I could see your mosses and ferns and lichens I am sure that you must be happier than anybody else You have so much less of winter than others your parlor garden is verdant and in bloom all the year About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books Find more at www.forgottenbooks.com This book is a reproduction of an important historical work Forgotten Books uses state of the art technology to digitally reconstruct the work preserving the original format whilst repairing imperfections present in the aged copy In rare cases an imperfection in the original such as a blemish or missing page may be replicated in our edition We do however repair the vast majority of imperfections successfully any imperfections that remain are intentionally left to preserve the state of such historical works *Letters to a Friend; Written to Mrs. Ezra S. times I was interested with the description you draw of your sermon You speak of such services like one who appreciated and relished them But although the page of Nature is so replete with divine truth it is silent concerning the fall of man and the wonders of Redeeming Love Might she not have been made to speak as clearly and eloquently of these things as she now does of the character and attributes of God It may be a bad symptom but I will confess that I take more intense delight from reading the power and goodness of God from the things which are made than from the Bible The two books however harmonize beautifully and contain enough of divine truth for the study of all eternity It is so much easier for us to employ our faculties upon these beautiful tangible forms than to exercise a simple humble living faith such as you so well describe as enabling us to reach out joyfully into the future to expect what is promised as a thing of to morrow I wish Mrs Carr that I could see your mosses and ferns and lichens I am sure that you must be happier than anybody else You have so much less of winter than others your parlor garden is verdant and in bloom all the year I took your hint and procured ten or twelve species of moss all in fruit also a club moss a fern and some liverworts and lichens I have also a box of thyme I would go a long way to see your herbarium more especially your ferns and mosses These two are by far the most interesting of all the natural orders to me The shaded hills and glens of Canada are richly ornamented with these lovely plants Letters to a Friend

Carr, 1866-1879 John Muir, 2020-03-16 In Letters to a Friend Written to Mrs Ezra S Carr 1866 1879 John Muir reflects on his profound connections with nature and his philosophical musings encapsulating the essence of his environmental advocacy and love for the wilderness. Composed as a series of intimate letters, Muir's literary style intertwines poetic lyricism with scientific observation, portraying not only the stunning landscapes of the American West but also the emotional and intellectual resonance these experiences evoke. These letters serve as a lens into Muir's deep appreciation for nature's intricate beauty and his burgeoning conviction that it must be preserved, thus situating the work within the larger context of 19th-century American romanticism and the nascent conservation movement. John Muir, a Scottish American naturalist, played an instrumental role in the early conservation movement, influencing the establishment of national parks in the United States. His personal experiences growing up in the serene landscape of Scotland and later immersing himself in the untamed beauty of California catalyzed his profound respect for the natural world. Muir's letters to Mrs. Carr reveal his philosophical evolution and the development of his ideas about nature and humanity's relationship to it, enkindled by their shared scholarly interests. For readers seeking an insightful glimpse into the mind of one of America's foremost naturalists, Letters to a Friend is an essential read. It offers not only a personal perspective on Muir's life and thoughts but also an enduring message about the importance of preserving the natural world, making it a compelling choice for enthusiasts of environmental literature, history, and philosophy. Letters to a Friend, Written to Mrs. Ezra S. Letters to a Friend, Written to Mrs. Ezra S. Carr, 1866-1879. by John Muir, 2016-10-06. Ezra Slocum Carr was a professor at the University of Wisconsin where he was also briefly a member of the Board of Regents and at the University of California Berkeley. He was originally trained as a medical doctor but taught in several scientific fields. He was a one-time California Superintendent of Public Instruction. Carr and his wife Jeanne were close friends of John Muir and were extremely influential in Muir's life at several key junctures. John Muir, April 21, 1838–December 24, 1914, also known as John of the Mountains, was a Scottish American naturalist, author, environmental philosopher, and early advocate of preservation of wilderness in the United States. His letters, essays, and books, telling of his adventures in nature, especially in the Sierra Nevada of California, have been read by millions. His activism helped to preserve the Yosemite Valley, Sequoia National Park, and other wilderness areas. The Sierra Club, which he founded, is a prominent American conservation organization. The 211-mile (340 km) John Muir Trail, a hiking trail in the Sierra Nevada, was named in his honor. Other such places include Muir Woods National Monument, Muir Beach, John Muir College, Mount Muir, Camp Muir, and Muir Glacier. In Scotland, the John Muir Way, a 130-mile-long route was named in honor of him In his later life Muir devoted most of his time to the preservation of the Western forests He petitioned the U S Congress for the National Park bill that was passed in 1890 establishing Yosemite National Park The spiritual quality and enthusiasm toward nature expressed in his writings inspired readers including presidents and congressmen to take action to help preserve large nature areas He is today referred to as the Father of the National Parks and the National Park Service has produced a short documentary about his life John Muir has been considered an inspiration to both Scots and Americans Muir s biographer Steven J Holmes believes that Muir has become one of the patron saints of twentieth century American environmental activity both political and recreational As a result his writings are commonly discussed in books and journals and he is often quoted by nature photographers such as Ansel Adams Muir has profoundly shaped the very categories through which Americans understand and envision their relationships with the natural world writes Holmes Muir was noted for being an ecological thinker political spokesman and religious prophet whose writings became a personal guide into nature for countless individuals making his name almost ubiquitous in the modern environmental consciousness According to author William Anderson Muir exemplified the archetype of our oneness with the earth while biographer Donald Worster says he believed his mission was saving the American soul from total surrender to materialism 403 On April 21 2013 the first ever John Muir Day was celebrated in Scotland which marked the 175th anniversary of his birth paying homage to the conservationist
