L'espace Social Lecture Géographique Des Sociétés Géographiques:

L'espace social Guy Di Méo, 2005-07-01 Le présent ouvrage analyse les formes sociales de l'espace. Il propose une méthode globale et fournit des outils pour comprendre les liens des individus avec leurs lieux de vie. L'univers de ces formes se ramène ici des notions espace lieu territoire territorialité réseau et des modèles d'investigation reflète de choix théoriques espace de vie espace vécu matrice historique et spatiale combinaisons et formations socio spatiales systèmes d'acteurs localisés. Pour l'interprétation de ces configurations spatiales et quel que soit le mode d'interprétation retenu on constate qu'elles résultent toujours de l'action de groupes humains historiquement structurés pour se perpétuer. Ainsi ils produisent autant des biens tangibles que des éléments symboliques des valeurs collectives du pouvoir de la puissance de la différenciation. Les sociétés ne sont pas mues par une mécanique fonctionnelle. Au contraire elles font pour toute chose des représentations la fois complexes et multiples elles font naître des idéologies et créent des cultures originales. Elles forgent des identités collectives qui leur servent ensuite d'argument de légitimité géographique. Au gré d'une lecture géographique l'étude des formes de l'espace révèle ainsi les structures les contradictions et les enjeux de la société. Cet ouvrage codirigé par Guy Di Méo et Pascal Buléon présente en première partie les concepts et les notions d'une nouvelle géographie sociale. La seconde partie les illustre d'exemples régionaux présentés par Florence Boyer David Giband Jean Claude Hinnewinkel Frédéric Loew Pellen Joël Pailhès Ilène Seren et Mamady Sidibé. Guy Di Méo est professeur de géographie à l'université Bordeaux 3 Michel de Montaigne et directeur de l'UMR ADES du CNRS et des universités de Bordeaux 2 et 3.
