

Writing a term paper on metaphors can be a daunting task for many students. Metaphors are complex literary devices that require a deep understanding and analysis to fully grasp their meaning and significance. As a result, writing a metaphor term paper can be a challenging and time-consuming process.

One of the biggest challenges in writing a metaphor term paper is finding the right topic. Metaphors can be found in a wide range of literary works, from poems and novels to speeches and advertisements. Choosing a specific topic that is both interesting and relevant can be a difficult task, especially for those who are not familiar with the subject matter.

Another difficulty in writing a metaphor term paper is conducting thorough research. Metaphors are not always explicitly stated in a text, and it takes a skilled researcher to identify and analyze them effectively. This requires a deep understanding of the literary work and its context, as well as the ability to critically analyze and interpret the metaphors used.

In addition to these challenges, writing a metaphor term paper also requires strong writing skills. Not only do students need to convey their ideas clearly and effectively, but they also need to use appropriate language and structure to support their arguments. This can be particularly challenging for non-native English speakers or those who struggle with writing in general.

metaphor variation First he identifies the major dimension of metaphor variation that is those social and cultural boundaries that signal discontinuities in human experience Second he describes which components or aspects of conceptual metaphor are involved in metaphor variation and how they are involved Third he isolates the main causes of metaphor variation Fourth Professor K vecses addresses the issue to the degree of cultural coherence in the interplay among conceptual metaphors embodiment and causes of metaphor variation

The Case of Deutsche Bank ,2020-10-08 Seminar paper from the year 2020 in the subject Communications Public Relations Advertising Marketing Social Media grade 2 3 RWTH Aachen University Institut f r Anglistik und Amerikanistik language English abstract The present paper deals with metaphors and metonyms in advertising With the focus on the following question Why is it common to use Metaphor and Metonymy in advertisements it should be explained step by step why these concepts became common in advertising media Living in the 20th century we are experiencing a huge development in technology compared to the past In the past it was only possible to distribute advertising through television radio and newspapers Nowadays new possibilities are coming up through the expansion of social media Since almost everybody owns a smartphone most of the people are always available This gives new opportunities to the advertising industry For this purpose the first step is to try to present the complex concept of metaphor in a concise way However this can only be done superficially in the scope of this term paper otherwise the scope of the work will be exceeded Furthermore a short explanation of target and source domain is given In the second chapter the topic of metonymy is then summarized Again it should be noted that an appropriate detailed description would exceed the limits of the work In the third part of the work the actual effect of metaphors and metonyms in advertisements will be illustrated Images from a Deutsche Bank advertising campaign are used for this purpose The first part of this chapter presents the company Deutsche Bank as such This is considered important because the values of the company could be reflected in their campaigns and that aspect therefore would be important for the following analysis This is followed by an analysis of the images used in terms of metaphor and metonymy In the analysis of the metaphors the focus is on target source domain In the last chapter of the paper the work is briefly summarized The results are listed and answered regarding the question posed A short summary forms the end of the work

The Depiction of Lovesickness in Renaissance and Modern Poetry. A Long Journey of Lovesickness from Diagnosis to Metaphor Aleksandra Dediukina, 2024-05-22 Seminar paper from the year 2024 in the subject English Language and Literature Studies Literature grade 1 7 http://www.uni-jena.de/Anglistik_und_Amerikanistik/course/Science_and_Literature/The_History_of_an_Uneasy_Relationship_language_English_abstract This term paper is devoted to the depiction of lovesickness in Renaissance and modern poetry Once commonly perceived as a serious medical condition lovesickness transformed into a widely used fruitful metaphor in poetry and song lyrics The Renaissance doctors viewed erotic passion as an unwanted condition with a range of symptoms certain pattern of development and suitable ways of treatment This can be stated with certainty by virtue of a wide number of specialised texts focused on the subject that were written at that time Among them in particular there is Treatise on Lovesickness quoted as T L by a French physician Jacques Ferrand in the first part of the theory chapter titled Renaissance Physicians Warn the most relevant key points of this work would be provided Similar findings from other medical works of the time will also be briefly mentioned Apart from scientific texts concerned with lovesickness a clinical approach to love and its manifestation in the patient's body can be registered in Renaissance drama and poetry William Shakespeare's most famous texts such as Romeo and Juliet Othello as well as his love sonnets are evidence to that The second part of the theory chapter titled Renaissance Lovers Suffer introduces the analysis of such instances in Shakespeare's and Sir Philip Sidney's works. The symptoms of lovesickness found in their texts will be explored in comparison with the medical description given by Ferrand. Today the scientific community does not identify romantic passion as a disease any longer. However, we widely and often unconsciously conceptualise love as such. For poets, it opens a richest source of metaphoric language. Love is sickness rapidly became one of the most common metaphors in love poetry, allowing for endless artistic solutions but at the same time engendering the risk of repetitiveness and the effect of familiarisation in Viktor Shklovsky's terms.

Figurativity across Domains, Modalities and Research Practices Alexandra Bagasheva, Nelly Tincheva, 2022-01-05. The human ability to think non-literally has attracted the interest of various scholars for thousands of years. Over the centuries, they have defined and studied an extensive variety of tropes such as metaphor, metonymy, synecdoche, allegory, and irony in terms of their communicative effectiveness and stylistic aesthetics and basically interpreted these simply as figurative linguistic expressions and mere flourishes adding flavour to underlying non-figurative content. Today, figurativity is understood as constitutive of various processes of human comprehension of the world, human communicative interactions, and everyday human functioning. This volume constitutes a representative selection of studies that provide novel answers to the open questions of how non-literal thought and non-literal expression in various media and discourses co-exist. The book focuses on figurative cognitive operations enabling non-literal thought, language, and other semiotic expressions. The unique set of viewpoints and authors' contributions upholds the cognitive approach to figurativity; it positions figurativity in various discursive environments, compares and contrasts figurativity in various languages and cultures, and traces the multimodal interplay of figurativity.
