through paper Feathering happens when the ink spreads out along the paper fibers Both of these scenarios are more likely when you use more absorbent paper and wet ink A lot of modern Calligraphy is done with brush pens or felt tip style pens We have tested this smooth cream 80gsm paper and the Calligraphic pen used has hardly any showthrough to the next page Results will vary See video bleed test on my author central page Notes below also 200 pages 8 5 x 11 Japanese Handwriting calligraphy Great for keen learners of the Japanese language hobbyists and beginners who want to practice handwriting No rules with this large 8 5 x11 inch book with lovely spacious pages giving plenty of room for more letters 200 per page Below are common problems often experienced with Handwriting Penmanship and Calligraphy If you experience these and our practice paper doesn't suit your particular ink please let us know so we can help with an alternative option Showthrough When writing can be seen on the reverse side of the paper Thinner gsm papers tend to have a higher showthrough Showthrough can also be known as shadowing or ghosting Bleedthrough When ink soaks through the paper sometimes even onto the next page Broad tipped pens and alcohol based pens are more prone to this type of bleeding Feathering When ink spreads into the fibers of a more absorbent paper due to capillary action Lines appear fuzzy and veiny instead of crisp and sharp Feathering can also be called spidering Enjoy seeing your writing practice in this book which is good to keep and to look over progress
