Sausages were probably the Neanderthal version of present day fast food Judging by the standards of some fast foods I would imagine that the quality was better In any event it is likely that sausages have been made ever since our ancestors became the leading carnivores on the plains of this planet I have made sausage as an amateur and professional for over 10 years but I do not claim to have written any of the recipes in this book In fact I have collected them from every Tom Dick and Harry I know and a lot of people I don t as well as from publications and the Internet Some of them are exactly as given to me others have been changed so much from the original version that they would not be recognized by their original authors some I gleaned from national meat boards and some from companies promoting sales of sausage ingredients casings or equipment However all the recipes have been tried and tested and as far as I am aware none of my friends or customers have ever suffered any ill effects from consuming any sausage the recipe for which is included in this collection During the course of my research I often found that there are several different names for what in effect is one single sausage recipe Even recipes credited to well known chefs are more often than not a variation on a theme The recipes included in this book vary from the simple to the fairly complicated but all can be used to prepare really delightful sausages in your own kitchen To all those people who have taken the time to record recipes which have been handed down from generation to generation and have gone to the trouble of publishing them in one form or another and to those who have collected recipes recorded their ideas on sausage making and likewise published these in the press on the internet and in recipe books I would like to say a very big thank you for making this knowledge available to sausage fans all over the world      Home Sausage Making, 4th Edition
