Metro Police 2015 2016 Post In Pretoria:

Police Work and Identity Andrew Faull, 2017-09-07 This is a book about the men and women who police contemporary South Africa Drawing on rich original ethnographical data it considers how officers make sense of their jobs and how they find meaning in their duties It demonstrates that the dynamics that lead to police abuses and scandals in transitional and neo liberalising regimes such as South Africa can be traced to the day to day experiences and ambitions of the average police officer It is about the stories they tell themselves about themselves and their social worlds and how these shape the order they produce through their work By focusing on police officers this book positions the individual in primacy over the organisation asking what policing looks like when motivated by the pursuit of ontological security in precarious contexts It acknowledges but downplays the importance of police culture in determining officers attitudes and behaviour and reminds readers that most officers lives are entangled in and shaped by a range of social political and cultural forces It suggests that a job in the South African Police Service SAPS is primarily just that a job Most officers join the organisation after other dreams have slipped beyond reach their presence in the Service being almost accidental But once employed they re write their self narratives and enact carefully choreographed performances to ease managerial and public pressure and to rationalize their coercive practices In an era where evidence and what works reigns supreme and where cop culture is often deemed a primary socializing force this book emphasises how officers personal histories ambitions and vulnerabilities remain central to how policing unfolds on the street

Exploring Police Integrity Sanja Kutnjak Ivković, M. R. Habersfeld, 2019-11-09 This work provides an innovative new look at police ethics including results from an updated version of the classic Police Integrity Questionnaire including new social and technological advances It aims to push the study of police research further expanding on and testing police integrity theory and methodology the relationship between community and integrity and the influence of multiculturalism and globalization on policing and community attitudes This work brings together experienced scholars who have used the police integrity theory and the accompanying methodology to measure police integrity in eleven countries and provide advance and sophisticated explorations of the topic Organized into three thematic sections it explores the testing methodology for international comparisons insights into police community relations and explores police subcultures This innovative book will be of interest to researchers in criminology criminal justice particularly with an interest in policing as well as related fields such as sociology public policy and comparative law

Policing and Boundaries in a Violent Society Guy Lamb, 2022-01-31 This book explores how social and territorial boundaries have influenced the approaches and practices of the South Africa Police Service SAPS By means of a historical analysis of South Africa this book introduces a new concept police frontierism which illuminates the nature of the relationships between the police policing and boundaries and can potentially be used for future case study research Drawing on a wealth of research this book examines how social and territorial boundaries strongly influenced police practices and behaviour in South Africa and how social delineations amplify and distort existing police prejudices against those communities on the other side of the boundary Focusing on cases of high density police operations public order policing and the recent policing of the COVID 19 lockdown this book argues that poor economic conditions combined with an increased militarisation of the SAPS and a decline in public trust in the police will result in boundaries continuing to fundamentally inform police work in South Africa This book will be of interest to scholars and students interested in policing in post colonial societies characterised by high levels of violence as well as police work and police militarization No Case to Answer

Andrew Cook,2022-04-21 In the early hours of Thursday 8 August 1963 sixteen masked men ambushed the Glasgow Euston mail train at Sears Crossing in Buckinghamshire Making off with a record haul of 2 6 million the robbers received approximately 150 000 each over 2 million in today s money While twelve of the robbers were jailed over the next five years four were never brought to justice they evaded arrest and thirty year prison sentences and lived out the rest of their lives in freedom In stark contrast to the likes of Ronnie Biggs Buster Edwards and Bruce Reynolds they became neither household names nor tabloid celebrities Who were these men How did they escape detection for so long And how almost sixty years later are their names still not common knowledge In No Case to Answer Andrew Cook gathers and examines decades of evidence and lays it out end to end It s time for you to draw your own conclusions Urban Inclusivity in Southern Africa

Hangwelani H. Magidimisha-Chipungu,Lovemore Chipungu,2021-09-28 This book s point of departure rests on the premises that dimensions of the mainstream inclusive city discourse fail to capture in detail vulnerable clusters of society being women children and the aging the minority clusters i e the blind the disabled and migrants In addition it fails to recognize the increase of spatial inequality driven by racial and class differences a factor that has seen an increase in community violence and protests The focus on spatial inequality has for a long time blind folded urban authorities to ignore exclusion arising out of the same environments created with a notion of creating inclusivity Hence this book collapses spatial walls as it seeks to uncover the true perspectives of inclusivity in cities beyond spatial dimensions but within social realms The depth of this book s enquiry rests on its critical investigation of Southern African cities through historical epochs of apartheid and colonialism in the region Police Integrity in South Africa

Sanja Kutnjak Ivkovich,Adri Sauerman,2020-04-29 Policing in South Africa has gained notoriety through its extensive history of oppressive law enforcement In 1994 as the country s apartheid system was replaced with a democratic order the new government faced the significant challenge of transforming the South African police force into a democratic police agency the South African Police Service SAPS that would provide unbiased policing to all the country s people More than two decades since the initiation of the reforms it appears that the SAPS has rapidly developed a reputation as a police agency beset by challenges to its integrity This book offers a unique perspective by providing in depth analyses of police integrity in South Africa It is a case study that systematically and empirically explores the contours of police integrity in a young democracy Using the organizational theory of police integrity

the book analyzes the complex set of historical legal political social and economic circumstances shaping police integrity A discussion of the theoretical framework is accompanied by the results of a nationwide survey of nearly 900 SAPS officers probing their familiarity with official rules their expectations of discipline within the SAPS and their willingness to report misconduct The book also examines the influence of the respondents race gender and supervisory status on police integrity Written in a clear and direct style this book will appeal to students and scholars of criminology policing sociology political science as well as to police administrators interested in expanding their knowledge about police integrity and enhancing it in their organizations

The Agonistic City? Li Pernegger, 2020-11-26 An exploration of Johannesburg's post apartheid's city administration's governance of conflict from 1996 to the current day in the case of service delivery protests and shifts in city policy The author Li Pernegger focuses in depth on the water wars in Orange Farm insurgent informal traders in the inner city and the billing battle fought by the middle class This book provides deep insights into facets of protests from the local state's qualification of the conflicts its portrayals of protestors its agonistic and antagonistic responses to protestors claims to power dynamics and the forms of agreement reached Pernegger considers what the practical prospects of agonism might be for the local government to regard city strife in its practices of governance as a constructive rather than destructive force for change and the realisation of democratic ideals for its ordinary citizens
