January 2014 Regents Math:

The Robot Factory Joseph Ganem, 2018-08-27 This book exposes a disturbing misuse of the scientific method to advance policies and agendas that are in fact detrimental to both science and education. The author, a physics professor, examines two related trends in education: the practice of data-driven reform and the disparaging of the traditional liberal arts in favor of programs with a heavy emphasis on science and technology. Many of the reforms being foisted on educators have more in common with pseudo science than real science. The reduction of education to a commodity and the shilling of science as a means to enhance corporate profits lead to an impoverished and stunted understanding of science in particular and of education in general. How is it possible for schools with all students learning at grade level to be rated as failing, teachers to be rated as ineffective after all their students meet their learning outcomes, rising grade school math standards to result in more college students needing remedial math, politicians to disparage scientists and their results but argue that more students should study science? These bizarre outcomes have happened and are the result of an education system that misuses and misrepresents math and science in the classroom and in crafting education policies. This book exposes the flawed and fallacious thinking that is damaging education at all levels throughout the United States and makes a compelling case for rethinking the standardized, optimized, and quantified approaches in vogue in education today to accommodate the different needs of individual teachers and students.

Meeting the Challenges to Measurement in an Era of Accountability Henry Braun, 2016-01-29 Under pressure and support from the federal government, states have increasingly turned to indicators based on student test scores to evaluate teachers and schools as well as students themselves. The focus thus far has been on test scores in those subject areas where there is a sequence of consecutive tests, such as in mathematics or English language arts, with a focus on grades 4-8. Teachers in these subject areas, however, constitute less than thirty percent of the teacher workforce in a district. Comparatively little has been written about the measurement of achievement in the other grades and subjects. This volume seeks to remedy this imbalance by focusing on the assessment of student achievement in a broad range of grade levels and subject areas, with particular attention to their use in the evaluation of teachers and schools. In all, it addresses traditional end-of-course tests as well as alternative measures such as portfolios, exhibitions, and student learning objectives. In each case, issues related to design and development, psychometric considerations, and validity challenges are covered from both a generic and a content-specific perspective. The NCME Applications of Educational Measurement and Assessment series includes edited volumes designed to inform research-based applications of educational measurement and assessment. Edited by leading experts, these books are comprehensive and practical resources on the latest developments in the field. The Open Access version of this book is available at <http://www.taylorfrancis.com> and has been made available under a Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-NoDerivatives 4.0 license.

The Cult of Smart Fredrik deBoer, 2020-08-04 Named one of Vulture's Top 10 Best Books of 2020. Leftist firebrand Fredrik deBoer exposes the lie at the heart of our educational system and demands top to bottom reform Everyone agrees that education is the key to creating a more just and equal world and that our schools are broken and failing Proposed reforms variously target incompetent teachers corrupt union practices or outdated curricula but no one acknowledges a scientifically proven fact that we all understand intuitively Academic potential varies between individuals and cannot be dramatically improved In The Cult of Smart educator and outspoken leftist Fredrik deBoer exposes this omission as the central flaw of our entire society which has created and perpetuated an unjust class structure based on intellectual ability Since cognitive talent varies from person to person our education system can never create equal opportunity for all Instead it teaches our children that hierarchy and competition are natural and that human value should be based on intelligence These ideas are counter to everything that the left believes but until they acknowledge the existence of individual cognitive differences progressives remain complicit in keeping the status quo in place This passionate voice driven manifesto demands that we embrace a new goal for education equality of outcomes We must create a world that has a place for everyone not just the academically talented But we ll never achieve this dream until the Cult of Smart is destroyed
