Politics and Governance of Basic Education Brian Levy,Robert Cameron,Ursula Hoadley,Vinothan Naidoo,2018-09-05 This is an open access title available under the terms of a CC BY NC ND 4.0 International licence It is free to read at Oxford Scholarship Online and offered as a free PDF download from OUP and selected open access locations All over the world economic inclusion has risen to the top of the development discourse A well performing education system is central to achieving inclusive development but the challenge of improving educational outcomes has proven to be unexpectedly difficult Access to education has increased but quality remains low with weaknesses in governance comprising an important part of the explanation The Politics and Governance of Basic Education explores the balance between hierarchical and horizontal institutional arrangements for the public provision of basic education Using the vivid example of South Africa a country that had ambitious goals at the outset of its transition from apartheid to democracy it explores how the interaction of politics and institutions affects educational outcomes By examining lessons learned from how South Africa failed to achieve many of its goals it constructs an innovative alternative strategy for making process combining practical steps to achieve incremental gains to re orient the system towards learning

What Is the Role for Effective Pedagogy In Contemporary Higher Education? Carl Senior,Dilly Fung,Christopher Howard, Rowena Senior,2018-10-05 The number of students entering into Higher Education HE continues to grow and as such the sector now stands at the threshold of a major shift in its philosophy No longer does the academic prerogative belong to a generation who valued learning for the sake of enlightenment Many contemporary undergraduate students enter their programmes of study with a primary desire to improve their position on the subsequent employability market Universities have been quick to meet this need and institutional offerings have followed suit enabling students to gain experience in a range of additional and subsidiary programmes that focus on the provision of value added benefits Here students are encouraged to develop expertise in a range of topics from entrepreneurship and enterprise to intellectual property and even leadership skills The first round of casualties that fall victim to such a shift are those programmes of study embedded within the humanities As is evidenced by the falling numbers of enrolling students the incoming cohort is less likely now to engage with such programmes while participation in programmes that have a clear employability component has never been so high To ensure that the HE sector continues to enable graduates to become effective citizens who contribute to the betterment of society a range of general questions need to be addressed What does it mean to be an authentic university in the modern era What are the real student expectations of HE and how are education providers framing and meeting these expectations Is a new breed of academic leadership needed that will both meet the expectations of the students and guide the aspirations of academic staff Finally do we need an opportunity to reflect on the effective design and delivery of curriculum Should the undergraduate student body play more of a role in the design of the curriculum or should the undergraduate student body play more of a role in the design of the curriculum or should they remain the recipients of a programme that has been designed by subject specialists The scope of this book is wide but it brings the design and delivery of higher education programmes under the empirical gaze of educational psychology That is to say all chapters centre on the impact of higher educational programmes on the student teacher relationship student learning achievement and identity It is therefore crucial to explore the psychological impact of higher education institutions and how these can then be used to inform innovative educational practice and policy
