Poor Participation Thomas A. Bryer, Sofia Prysmakova-Rivera, 2018-02-19 This book argues that active citizenship and poverty are inextricably linked A common sentiment in discussions of poverty and social policy is that decisions made about those living in poverty or near poverty are illegitimate inadvisable and non responsive to the needs and interests of the poor if the poor themselves are not involved in the decision making process Inside this intuitively appealing idea however are a range of potential contradictions and conflicts These conflicts are at the nexus between active citizenship and technical expertise between promotion of stability in governance and empowerment of people between empowerment that is genuine and sustainable and empowerment that is artificial and between a war on poverty that is built on the ideas of collaborative governance and one that is built on an assumption of rule of the elite The poor have long been consigned to a group of included out citizens They are legally living in a place but they are not afforded the same courtesies entrusted with the same responsibilities or respected in parallel processes as those citizens of greater means and those who behave in manners that are more consistent with middle class values Poor citizens engaged in the war on poverty of the 1960s started to emerge and force their agenda through adversarial action and social protest This book explores the clear linkages between engaged citizenship and poverty in the United States revealing a war on poverty and impoverished citizenship that continues to develop in the twenty first century
