House Rules Jodi Picoult, 2010-04-03 From the 1 New York Times bestselling author of Small Great Things and the modern classics My Sister's Keeper, The Storyteller and more comes a complex, compassionate and smart The Washington Post novel about a family torn apart by a murder accusation. When your son can't look you in the eye, does that mean he's guilty? Jacob Hunt is a teen with Asperger's syndrome. He's hopeless at reading social cues or expressing himself well to others, though he is brilliant in many ways. He has a special focus on one subject: forensic analysis. A police scanner in his room clues him in to crime scenes, and he's always showing up and telling the cops what to do. And he's usually right. But when Jacob's small hometown is rocked by a terrible murder, law enforcement comes to him. Jacob's behaviors are hallmark Asperger's, but they look a lot like guilt to the local police. Suddenly, the Hunt family, who only want to fit in, are thrust directly in the spotlight. For Jacob's mother, it's a brutal reminder of the intolerance and misunderstanding that always threaten her family. For his brother, it's another indication why nothing is normal because of Jacob. And for the frightened small town, the soul-searing question looms: Did Jacob commit murder? House Rules is a provocative story in which Picoult explores the pain of trying to comprehend the people we love and reminds us that the truth often travels in disguise. Jacob's behaviour has sometimes frustrated Emma, but she has never doubted her son's good heart. Yet when his tutor is found dead, suspicion begins to surround Jacob and the Hunt family, who have never quite fitted into the community. Now, as more and more evident links Jacob to the crime, Emma is determined to prove her son's innocence. Can she believe in it? Everyone is hooked by House Rules. Absolutely amazing read. Explorations of Consciousness in Contemporary Fiction Grzegorz Maziarczyk, Joanna Klara Teske, 2017-07-20. Explorations of Consciousness in Contemporary Fiction is a collection of essays examining the potential of the contemporary English language novel to represent and inquire into various aspects of the human mind. Grounded in contemporary literary theory as well as consciousness studies, the essays consider both narrative techniques by means of which writers attempt to render various states of consciousness such as multimodality in digital fiction or experimental typography in post-traumatic narratives and novelistic interpretations of issues currently being investigated by neurobiologists, cognitive scientists and philosophers of the mind such as the adaptive value of consciousness or the process of self integration by means of self narration. The volume thus offers critical reflection upon the novel's cognitive accomplishment in this challenging area. Contributors are Nathan D. Frank, Judit Friedrich, Justyna Galant, Marta Komsta, Peter Kristof Makai, Ajit Paul, Mangat Grzegorz Maziarczyk, James McAdams, Daniel Panka, Barbara Puschmann, Nalenz, Joanna Klara Teske, Lloyd Issac Vayo, Dora Vecserny, Sylwia Wilczewska.

Exchanges between Literature and Science from the 1800s to the 2000s Márcia Lemos, 2017-03-07 This collection of essays responds to the intense interest that the relations between the discourses of literature and other cultural practices and those of science have obtained throughout various fields of study Spanning a period between the mid nineteenth century and the twenty first century the work collected here is firmly focused on the cultural significance of scientific discoveries and practices and especially on the manifold representations of science and scientists in literature and the arts Its four sections develop from an initial moment of dwindling indefiniteness of borders between literature and the sciences to the historical perception of an increasing divide between the two cultures to use C P Snow s influential expression as well as calls for a form of convergence or consilience in Edward Wilson s words The final section turns to the medical sciences a porous scientific discipline in relation to the humanities which suggests that consilience can already be found partially in specific areas As such this collection contributes towards critically extending that integration through the discussion of key literary representations of science its promises and its problems
