J. M. Coetzee and the Ethics of Narrative

Transgression Alexandra Effe, 2017-08-16 This book is about the metanarrative and metafictional elements of J M Coetzee's novels. It draws together authorship, readership, ethics and formal analysis into one overarching argument about how narratives work the boundary between art and life. On the basis of Coetzee's writing, it reconsiders the concept of metalepsis, challenges common understandings of self-reflexive discourse and invites us to rethink our practice as critics and readers. This study analyzes Coetzee's novels in three chapters organized thematically around the author's relation with character, reader and self. Author and character are discussed on the basis of Foe, Slow Man and Coetzee's Nobel lecture He and His Man Stories, featuring the character Elizabeth Costello or the figuration Elizabeth Curren, serve to elaborate the relation of author and reader. The study ends on a reading of Summertime, Diary of a Bad Year and Dusklands as Coetzee's engagement with autobiographical writing, analyzing the relation of author and self. It will appeal to readers with an interest in literary and narrative theory as much as to Coetzee scholars and advanced students. Anglica Wratislaviensia, 1971 J. M.

Coetzee Dominic Head, 1997 The importance of J M Coetzee in the development of twentieth-century fiction is widely recognised. His work addresses some of the key issues of the late twentieth and early twenty-first centuries: the relationship between postmodernism and postcolonialism, the role of history in the novel and the question of how the author can combine an ethical and political consciousness with a commitment to the novel as a work of fiction. In this study, written in 1998, Dominic Head assesses Coetzee's position as a white South African writer engaged with the legacy of colonialism. Through close readings of all the novels, Head shows how Coetzee inhabits a transitional site between Europe and Africa and it is from this position that his more general concerns emerge. Coetzee's engagement with the problems facing the postcolonial writer, Head argues, is always enriched by his awareness of a wider literary tradition. The African Book Publishing Record, 1978

A Story of South Africa Susan V. Gallagher, 1991 With the publication of Age of Iron, winner of Britain's richest fiction prize, the Sunday Express Book of the Year for 1990, J M Coetzee is now recognized as one of the foremost writers of our day. In this timely study of Coetzee's fiction, Susan Gallagher places his work in the context of South African history and politics. Her close historical readings of Coetzee's six major novels explore how he lays bare the dense complicity between thought and language in South Africa. Following a penetrating description of the unique difficulties facing writers under apartheid, Gallagher recounts how history, language and authority have been used to marginalize the majority of South Africa's people. Her story reaches from the beginnings of Afrikaner nationalism to the recent past: the Sharpeville massacre, the jailing of Nelson Mandela and the Soweto uprising. As a result of his rejection of liberal and socialist realism, Coetzee has been branded an escapist, but Gallagher ably defends him from this charge. Her cogent, convincingly argued examination of his novels demonstrates that Coetzee's fictional response is apocalyptic in the most profound Biblical sense, obscurely pointing toward ineffable realities transcending discursive definition. Viewing Coetzee's fiction in this context, Gallagher describes a new kind of novel that arises out of history but also rivals history This analysis reveals Coetzee s novels to be profound responses to their time and place as well as richly rewarding investigations of the storyteller s art Perspectives on South African Fiction Sarah Christie,Geoffrey Hutchings,Don MacLennan,1980 The Literary Review ,1984 Countries of the Mind Allen Richard Penner,1989-06-23 Since the publication of his first novel in 1974 J M Coetzee has attained a reputation as one of the world s most respected novelists The demand for his works is related to the world s interest in the politics literature culture and society of South Africa However Coetzee s fictions remain significant according to Penner apart from their South African context because of their artistry and because they transform urgent societal concerns into more enduring questions regarding colonialism and the relationships of mastery and servitude between cultures and individuals Penner provides an in depth critical reading of Coetzee s five novels drawing upon primary and critical texts on Western and South African literature and society He argues that Coetzee s writings subvert traditional novel forms and thus become self reflexive commentaries on the nature of fiction and fiction writing Despite the diversity of their forms Coetzee s novels all deal with the Cartesian division between the self and others that is at the base of all colonial and master slave relationships Many of Coetzee s protagonists who struggle to escape this Cartesian dichotomy and the colonizing mentality it fosters also hold a privileged status within their societies As a result they face a moral dilemma even if they are personally innocent of any acts of oppression they still share responsibility as members of the colonizing group If Coetzee does not provide solutions or a direct call to action to resolve South Africa s enormous problems Penner suggests it is because Coetzee is striking at a more fundamental problem the psychological philosophical and linguistic foundations of the colonial dilemma Penner also deals with the question of Coetzee s identity as a South African writer arguing that his tradition is the broader Western literary tradition of which South Africa is a part This book should be read by anyone interested in Coetzee s fiction modern fiction and Third World and South African literature The Quest for Identity in a Multicultural Society ,1995
