The background of the poster is a dark, moody scene. A large, two-story house is suspended in the air by a thick, rusted metal chain. The house is lit from within, with warm yellow light glowing from the windows. The sky is a dark, swirling greenish-blue. In the foreground, there are dark, silhouetted trees. The overall atmosphere is mysterious and ominous.

Last Exit For The Lost:

Letters from the Lost Helen Waldstein Wilkes, 2010 On March 15 1939 Helen Waldstein's father snatched his stamped exit visa from a distracted clerk to escape from Prague with his wife and child As the Nazis closed in on a war torn Czechoslovakia only letters from their extended family could reach Canada through the barriers of conflict The Waldstein family received these letters as they made their lives on a southern Ontario farm where they learned to be Canadian and forget their Jewish roots Helen Waldstein read these letters as an adult this changed everything As her past refused to keep silent Helen followed the trail of the letters back to Europe where she discovered living witnesses who could attest to the letters contents She has here interwoven their stories and her own into a compelling narrative of suffering survivor guilt and overcoming intergenerational obstacles when exploring a traumatic past The Captives; Or, The Lost Recovered
