Muslim Moroccan Migrants In Europe Transnational Migration In Its Multiplicity:

Muslim Moroccan Migrants in Europe M. Ennaji, 2014-11-19 Based on the author's fieldwork and readings of media government reports and historical and contemporary records this book explores how Muslim migrants in Europe contribute to a changing European landscape focusing on Muslim Moroccan migrants Narrating Migrations from Africa and the Middle East Ruth Breeze, Sarali Gintsburg, Mike Baynham, 2022-09-08 Exploring narratives produced by different groups of MENA and SSA migrants or refugees this book focuses on the spatial and temporal aspects of their experiences In doing so the authors examine a wide range of accounts of journeys to host countries and memories or recreations of home The spaces that migrants occupy or not in their new country the spaces and times they share with local populations and different conceptions of space and time across generations are also investigated as are how feelings surrounding space and time are manifested within these different narratives and their affective discursive practices Taking both a traditional linear view of migration as well as a multilinear multimodal approach the book presents an in depth investigation into the ways in which people inhabit multiple real and digital spaces African Migrations Ruth Breeze, Sarali Gintsburg, 2023-11-16 For centuries the people of Africa have been on the move seeking new opportunities fleeing from dangers or tragically uprooted through human greed and cruelty In the twenty first century with over 40 million people migrating from and within Africa each year it is clear that migration still has a significant impact on every aspect of African life For this reason Sarali Gintsburg and Ruth Breeze in their new book African Migrations Traversing Hybrid Landscapes explore the hybrid landscapes of African migration and provide new insights into the complexity of migratory movements and migrant experiences associated with the African continent Taking the view that the only ecologically valid way to understand migration is by looking at it through the eyes of the migrants themselves the authors draw on a wide spectrum of first hand evidence from a multitude of sources including testimonies media artefacts workplace experiences interviews and ethnographic observations The contributors reflect on a wide array of themes linked to the African context such as diasporic mapping of landscapes hybridity heterotopia m tissage cultural mixing and complementation This book presents the African continent not only in its cultural diversity but also to cover the complex and wide trajectories of migrations to from and within Africa Britain's rural Muslims Sarah Hackett, 2020-06-06 Immigration has long been associated with the urban landscape from accounts of inner city racial tension and discrimination during the 1960s and 1970s and studies of minority communities of the 1980s and 1990s to the increased focus on cities amongst contemporary scholars of migration and diaspora Though cities have long provided the geographical frameworks within which a significant share of post war migration has taken place Sarah Hackett argues that that there has long existed a rural dimension to Muslim integration in Britain This book offers the first comprehensive study of Muslim migrant integration in rural Britain across the post 1960s period examining the previously unexplored relationship between Muslim integration and rurality by using the county of

Wiltshire in the South West of England as a case study Drawing upon a range of archival material and oral histories it challenges the long held assumption that local authorities in more rural areas have been inactive and even disinterested in devising and implementing migration integration and diversity policies and sheds light on smaller and more dispersed Muslim communities that have traditionally been written out of Britain s immigration history Arabs at Home and in the World Karla McKanders,2019-01-03 This volume brings together an interdisciplinary group of scholars from the United States the Middle East and North Africa to discuss and critically analyze the intersection of gender and human rights laws as applied to individuals of Arab descent It seeks to raise consciousness at the intersection of gender identity and human rights as it relates to Arabs at home and throughout the diaspora The context of revolution and the destabilizing impact of armed conflicts in the region are used to critique and examine the utility of human rights law to address contemporary human rights issues through extralegal strategies To this end the volume seeks to inform educate persuade and facilitate newer or less heard perspectives related to gender and masculinities theories It provides readers with new ways of understanding gender and human rights and proposes forward looking solutions to implementing human rights norms The goal of this book is to use the context of Arabs at home and throughout the diaspora to critique and examine the utility of human rights norms and laws to diminish human suffering with the goal of transforming the structural social and cultural conditions that impede access to human rights This book will be of interest to a diverse audience of scholars students public policy researchers lawyers and the educated public interested in the fields of human rights law international studies gender politics migration and diaspora and Middle East and North African politics Everyday Life in Global Morocco Rachel Newcomb,2017-10-09 Following the story of one middle class family as they work eat love and grow Everyday Life in Global Morocco provides a moving and engaging exploration of how world issues impact lives Rachel Newcomb shows how larger issues like gentrification changing diets and nontraditional approaches to marriage and fertility are changing what the everyday looks and feels like in Morocco Newcomb s close engagement with the Benjelloun family presents a broad range of responses to the multifaceted effects of globalization The lived experience of the modern family is placed in contrast with the traditional expectation of how this family should operate This juxtaposition encourages new ways of thinking about how modern the notion of globalization really is Migration and Integration Challenges of Muslim Immigrants in Europe Annemarie Profanter,Elena Maestri,2021-09-06 As the impetus of globalization continues to gather pace more and more people leave their homes pursuing dreams of a better life for themselves and their families Muslim immigrants converging on Europe from widely divergent communities scattered throughout North Africa the Middle East and South East Asia represent a great variety of local cultures and traditions Trans Mediterranean networks form the basis of migration routes and are key factors in the destinations of these migrants and in the overall process of immigration be this towards Europe or other Muslim countries South North fluxes intertwine with South South fluxes among which the Gulf Arab countries stand out as a prime destination not only for low skilled labour Different situations emerge within a variegated discourse on co existence integration assimilation and the preservation of identity The adoption of this transnational dimension incorporating both destination and points of origin enables the investigation of migration to move beyond a purely Eurocentric approach Thus different national patterns are analyzed with a focus on a number of significant case studies By debating policies and cultural approaches the aim is to add innovative scholarship to the challenge of integration Cross cultural pluralism on the part of the nation states comprising the European Union is one avenue for moving the dialogue between different cultural frameworks towards a more compatible form

Revisiting Moroccan Migrations Mohammed Berriane,Hein De Haas,Katharina Natter,2018-02-02 Over the 20th century Morocco has become one of the world s major emigration countries But since 2000 growing immigration and settlement of migrants from sub Saharan Africa the Middle East and Europe confronts Morocco with an entirely new set of social cultural political and legal issues This book explores how continued emigration and increasing immigration is transforming contemporary Moroccan society with a particular emphasis on the way the Moroccan state is dealing with shifting migratory realities The authors of this collective volume embark on a dialogue between theory and empirical research showcasing how contemporary migration theories help understanding recent trends in Moroccan migration and vice versa how the specific Moroccan case enriches migration theory This perspective helps to overcome the still predominant Western centric research view that artificially divide the world into receiving and sending countries and largely disregards the dynamics of and experiences with migration in countries in the Global South This book was previously published as a special issue of The Journal of North African Studies

The Maghreb-Europe Paradigm Moha Ennaji,2019-06-04 This book discusses the current socio cultural situation of North African migrants in Europe and analyzes migration gender and identity in their multiple dimensions consequences and expressions which range from sociological approaches to culture and literature The chapters debate the topic of migration and culture from various angles making this volume a forum where notions of dispossession cultural identity and otherness are debated It comprises contributions that range in subject matter from sociological and anthropological studies of Maghrebi diaspora and migrants in Europe to reflections on transnational literature It is an analysis of migration with all its complex aspects and multiple expressions of exile otherness and pain

Living Tangier Abdelmajid Hannoum,2020-01-03 How Moroccan society especially in the city of Tangier has been affected by the flows of migrants from both West Africa and Europe Since the early 1990s new migratory patterns have been emerging in the southern Mediterranean Here a large number of West Africans and young Moroccans including minors make daily attempts to cross to Europe The Moroccan city of Tangier because of its proximity to Spain is one of the main gateways for this migratory movement It has also become a magnet for middle and working class Europeans seeking a more comfortable life Based on extensive fieldwork Living Tangier examines the dynamics of transnational migration in a major city of the Global South and studies African illegal migration to Europe and European legal migration to

Morocco looking at the itineraries of Europeans West Africans and Moroccan children and youth their strategies for crossing their motivations their dreams their hopes and their everyday experiences In the process Abdelmajid Hannoum examines how Moroccan society has been affected by the flows of migrants from both West Africa and Europe focusing on race relations and analyzing issues related to citizenship and social inequality Living Tangier considers what makes the city one of the most attractive for migrants preparing to cross to Europe and illustrates not only how migrants live in the city but also how they live the city how they experience it encounter its people and engage its culture walk its streets and participate in its events Reflecting on his own experiences and drawing on the work of Hannah Arendt Edward Said Tayeb Saleh Amin Maalouf and Dany Laferrière Hannoum provokes new questions in order to reconfigure migration as a postcolonial phenomenon and interrogate how Moroccan society responds to new cultural processes

Citizenship in Transition Francis Owtram, Annemarie Profanter, 2014-07-18 The revolutions and protests arising from the Arab Spring combined with the establishment of the Islamic State in Syria and Iraq challenged dominant ideas about what people in the Middle East expect from their governments At the same time a new wave of migration has been created once again showing how the local regional and global are connected in the identity of citizens and concepts of citizenship This turmoil and its human cost tragically captured in the image of drowned toddler Aylan Kurdi have called into question prevailing modes of thinking about the Middle East as well as the policy of EU governments towards refugees and immigration These seismic events have compounded underlying changes in the internal composition of contemporary liberal democracies which together with the challenges imposed by globalization on the state are demanding a rethink of theories of citizenship particularly in a transnational sense By bringing together new perspectives on these critical issues this timely and thought provoking book deconstructs the processes that are shaping and reshaping debates on migration and integration in Europe and illuminates emerging patterns in key areas such as citizenship and cultural identity education and second generation networks

The Outside Alice Elliot, 2021-04-06 What does migration look like from the inside out In The Outside Alice Elliot decenters conventional approaches to migration by focusing on places of departure rather than arrival and rethinks migration from the perspective of those who have not yet left Through an intimate ethnography of towns and villages notorious in Morocco for their striking emigration to the outside Elliot traces the powerful ways migration permeates life as brutal bureaucratic machinery administering hope and despair as intimate force crisscrossing kinship relations and bonds of love and care as imaginative horizon of the self and of the future Challenging dominant understandings of migration and their deadly consequences by centering non migrants sharp theorizations and intimate experiences of the outside Elliot recasts migration as a deeply relational entity and attends to the ethnographic conceptual and political imagination required by the constitutive relationship between migration and life

Muslims in Europe Paul Statham, Jean Tillie, 2018-10-18 Atrocities by terrorists acting in the name of the Islamic State are occurring with increasing regularity across Western Europe Often the perpetrators are home grown which places the relationship between Muslims and the countries in which they live under intense political and media scrutiny and raises questions about the success of the integration of Muslims of migrant origin At the same time populist politicians try to shift the blame from the few perpetrators to the supposed characteristics of all Muslims as a group by depicting Islam as a threat that seeks to undermine liberal democratic values and institutions The research in this volume attempts to redress the balance by focusing on the views and life experiences of the many ordinary Muslims in their European societies of settlement and the role that cultural and religious factors play in shaping their social relationships with majority populations and public institutions The book is specifically interested in the relationship between cultural religious distance and social factors that shape the life chances of Muslims relative to the majority The study is cross national comparative across the six main receiving countries with distinct approaches to the accommodation of Muslims France Germany Britain the Netherlands Belgium and Switzerland The research is based on the findings of a survey of four groups of Muslims from distinct countries of origin Turkey Morocco the former Yugoslavia and Pakistan as well as majority populations in each of the receiving countries This book was originally published as a special issue of the Journal of Ethnic and Migration Studies

Fassmann, Michael Bommers, Wiebke Sievers, 2025-10-01 One of the most important challenges concerning the future of the European Union is the demographic reproduction of the European population Decreasing birth rates and the retirement of the baby boomers will dramatically reduce the labour force in the EU which will entail not only a lack of manpower but also lower contributions to European social systems It seems clear that the EU will have to counterbalance this population decrease by immigration in the coming years Migration Between the Middle East North Africa and Europe takes this challenge as a point of departure for analysing the MENA region in particular Morocco Egypt and Turkey as a possible source of future migration to the European Union At the same time it illustrates the uncertainties implied in such calculations especially at a time of radical political changes such as those brought about by the Arab Uprising A wide and scientific overview on migration potential from the MENA region to the EU The Culture of Moroccan Migrants in Europe Adrianus Cornelis Jacob Ruiter, 2008 Migrants Unbound Paolo Ruspini, 2019-09-10 This book includes a selection of papers written in the last ten years 2009 2019 in affiliation to Swiss academic institutions They have been updated and edited for this publication The idea behind the present collection is to make full value of comparative research carried out both from a theoretical or empirical perspective on different categories of migrants from the elderly to second generation and from low to highly skilled originating from a variety of regions and geographical contexts They come from the Sub Saharan African region as well as Western and Eastern Europe presently living on the European continent Paolo Ruspini is a political scientist who has been researching issues of international and European migration and integration since 1997 with a comparative approach and by drawing on mixed methods His current research deals with transnational migration from a theoretical and empirical perspective Transnationalism, Migration and the Challenge to Europe Kevin Robins, Asu Aksoy, 2015-10-23 Transnationalism Migration and the Challenge to Europe The Enlargement of Meaning puts forward an alternative outline for thinking about migration in a European context Moving beyond the agenda of identity politics the book addresses possibilities more related to the experiential and existential dimensions of migratory and importantly post migratory lives Examining the fundamental and radical argument that migrants should be regarded not as a problematical category but rather as opening up new cultural and imaginative channels for those living in Europe the book draws on extensive empirical work by the authors undertaken over the past ten years Grounded in the actual lives and experiences of migrant Turks the book evaluates how their articulations regarding identity and belonging have been changing over the last decade The agenda regarding migration and belonging has shifted over this crucial period of time This shift is counterpoised against the unchanging national positions and against the supra national stance of official European approaches and policies regarding migration and identity Transnationalism Migration and the Challenge to Europe would be of interest to those involved in sociology anthropology transnational studies migration studies cultural studies media studies European studies
