

My Cultural Identity

I was born in Royal-Oak, Michigan, but without any hesitation, I state that I am the product of two very different cultures. Both of my parents are one hundred percent Romanians, they moved to the United States twenty-three years ago. For so many times I heard them talking about Romania origins as a country, how Romania was formed, about Romanians and about their culture. One of my dad's favorite stories is about Decebalus, how Decebalus was one of the feared-enemy for Romans, how he was fighting in three wars against the Roman Empire until he was defeated by Trajan. My dad also told me that Decebalus name means powerful, brave in Dacian and he chooses to commit suicide to avoid capture. In Romania for all Romanians, Decebalus is considered a national hero he is the proof of the Dacian origins of the Romanians.

Last summer I spent the whole month of July in Romania. Romania is a country with lots of traditions and a powerful history. One of my favorite souvenirs from Romania is a small copy of a carved statue of Decebalus. The statue was my gift for my entire family, a gift which will remind us of our origins, about our hero, and about our history.

After all these years of living in the United States, my family and I are still very connected with Romanian culture. In our family the Romanian culture can be seen in: food, the way we celebrate some holidays, religion, friends, music and language. Proudly, I can say that for Christmas and Easter our home smells like any other home from Romania. The Christmas and the Easter smell in my home are from the aroma of the Romanian traditional food. The traditional sarmale is one of my favorite dishes which in our family we eat every year at Christmas time. For Easter, our house smells sweet because of the aroma of the sweet Cozonac, a special Romanian bread which my mom makes just for Easter, a homemade sweet bread with raisins and walnuts.

From the day I was born until the age of ten, I was really close to my grandparents. My grandparents taught me the Romanian language and they told me lots of stories from Romanian folklore. They played a big role through my childhood and they were my connection to my roots. These are examples which reflect my Romanian cultural identity; these examples show how in my family the Romanian traditions are preserved.

In the beginning, I said that I am the product of two different cultures. I say this not because I was born in the United States but because my family and I are every day in touch with American traditions. I have American friends, I celebrate and respect any American traditions and customs.

Nowadays, we are now living in a multicultural world where it is normal to try to keep our roots, but also to adapt to the world in which we live day by day.

Culture determines our values, our history, how we interact with the world and how we interact with the people around us. Culture includes our nation history, our religion, our

My Cultural Identity Essay:

Developing Intercultural Competence in Higher Education Lily A. Arasaratnam-Smith, Darla K.

Deardorff, 2022-09-30 This book presents students' reflections on their intercultural student experiences and utilizing the UNESCO Story Circle methodology illustrates how such reflection can aid the development of intercultural competence IC. The volume features a broad range of first person narratives that showcase the diversity of student experience encountered whilst studying abroad in a variety of cultural and institutional settings. Engaging with issues in relation to identity negotiation, stereotypes, cultural difference, and communities of support, the text demonstrates application of the UNESCO Story Circle approach in developing IC. Further vignettes are analyzed and guiding questions are offered to structure readers' reflection and discussion to facilitate further honing of intercultural competencies. The volume promotes IC amongst individual educators, trainers, international students, and community members and provides guidance in addressing international students' wellbeing more broadly. This text will benefit scholars, academics, and students in the fields of higher education, multicultural education, and intercultural communication. Those involved with international and comparative education, as well as student affairs practice and higher education administration, will also benefit from this volume. Bartlett Bloom, Paul A. F. Walter, 1996 Race & Reason ,1996 Second Language Learning and Identity Mika Yoshimoto, 2008 This book is largely about second language learning and identity construction It is based on a unique hybrid design of case study and autoethnography In addition diary study plays an important role in allowing the participants to express themselves in a self reflective way The author examines and discusses with the participants of her research the everyday struggles of Japanese women in Canada who are trying to learn English Of particular interest to this study was the role of metaphor in language which constructs our conceptual framework in a manner consistent with sociocultural theory and critical theory Also Foucault s discourse theory plays a prominent role particularly with regards to diary interviews and group meetings in that it sees identity and discourse as being profoundly interrelated and inseparable Thus by examining discourse we can become more aware of changes in identity With regards to the context of this study with respect to other research the author believes that there is a significant connection to Bonny Norton s notion of investment rather than motivation with regards to how invested a second language learner feels in his or her studies Also Hongyu Wang who writes extensively in the style of autoethnography has helped me come to understand my journey that generates feelings of exclusion repression and alienation Bakhtin s notion of multiple voices was also very important to the author as she discussed identity as constantly shifting layered voices in multiple contexts In second language learning research there is very little attention paid to the perspective of the learner with regards to how they feel and their identity Most other research in this area looks at particular linguistic functions such as syntax morphology etc This research is also a documentation of the author s personal journey as she was a participant in her own research The importance of narratives is also something that the author found was largely ignored in second language research For this reason the author ensured that it was central to her work When the author first began this research her aim was to help Japanese women who were studying English understand the changes in identity that they were experiencing However as her research progressed she saw that this research would benefit all students pursuing a second language all teachers of second languages as well as researchers in SLA and curriculum theorists The use of haiku throughout the thesis is a particularly unique reflection of poetic discourse Autoethnography has also recently grown in popularity in terms of its use in research and is used extensively throughout this work The use of the liminal space doubling space in between space Third Space notion in the exploration of identity and its transformation in this work is also quite interesting Through this research the author has uncovered a profound connection between language and identity For Japanese women learning English is both liberating and unsettling This beautifully written work will be an important book for all involved in second language learning curriculum theorists as well as researchers concerned with connections between language and identity poetic inquiry and discourse narrative theory and autoethnography
