

Le gaz de schiste

— Mélange d'eau, de sable et de produit chimique

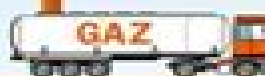

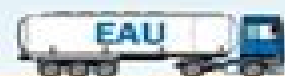

— Eau pompée et retraitée, pouvant contenir sel, métaux lourds et éléments radioactifs

— Gaz de schiste

Une lourde infrastructure nécessaire :

- stockage du gaz, du sable et de l'eau
- système de dépollution des matériaux utilisés

Le mélange gaz et eau remonte à la surface par le puits.

Nappe phréatique

Pour l'extraction, 2 types de forage appliqués :
- vertical
- horizontal

Les schistes sont des roches à l'aspect feuilleté comme l'argile ou le calcaire.

De l'eau, du sable et des détergents sont injectés dans le conduit sous haute pression afin de fracturer la roche et libérer le gaz.

Fracture de la roche

Schiste entre 2 000 et 3 000 mètres

Le Mirage Du Gaz De Schiste Essais Document

Thomas Porcher

Le Mirage Du Gaz De Schiste Essais Document:

Le mirage du gaz de schiste Thomas Porcher, 2013-05-02 Que se passerait-il si la France décidait d'exploiter son gaz de schiste ? Y aurait-il des créations d'emplois, une baisse du prix de l'énergie ou un retour de la compétitivité ? Accéderions-nous au Graal de l'indépendance énergétique ? Thomas Porcher propose une étude inédite sur les conséquences d'une ouverture législative à une telle exploitation. En s'appuyant sur l'expérience américaine et en prenant en compte les spécificités juridiques et économiques de la France, il vient contrebalancer point par point une information largement dominée par les lobbies et apporte des réponses cruciales en plein débat sur le gaz de schiste en France. Thomas Porcher est docteur en économie, professeur en marketing des matières premières, l'ESG MS et chargé de cours en économie internationale à l'université Paris Descartes. Ces analyses sur l'énergie ont été reprises dans plusieurs rapports du gouvernement et de l'Assemblée nationale.

Climate Denial Thomas Porcher, Henri Landes, 2023-07-04 Is it possible to subsidize fossil fuels on the one hand while at the same time claiming to be committed to the fight against global warming? Is it possible to promote free trade treaties throughout the world while claiming that CO2 emissions must be reduced? Can we use indicators that only take into account market production without taking into account pollution? In view of the climate challenge, the answer to these questions should be negative, but unfortunately today it is still positive. In a documented, clear and incisive book, Thomas Porcher and Henri Landes denounce this climate hypocrisy. In the last chapter, they present 10 proposals to meet the climate challenge. Instead of all the great speeches on climate, this book reminds us of the sad reality of recent years: an unprecedented development of polluting energies with unconventional gas and oil, a blind trust in non-existent solutions from the market to fight against climate change, hundreds of free trade treaties being negotiated without climate clauses, inadequate measurement indicators that encourage business as usual. Thomas Porcher has a PhD in economics and is a professor at PSB. He was an expert in the national debate on energy transition and was part of the working group of the C. Lepage mission for the economic transition at the ministry of ecology. He is the author of Le Mirage du gaz de schiste (Max Milo, 2013). Henri Landes, Franco-American, is a lecturer at Sciences Po and co-founder of the Climate Association, of which he was president.

Le déni climatique Thomas Porcher, Henri Landes, 2015-11-12 Ce livre tablit un constat sans concession : nous sommes tous climato-sceptiques. Nous sommes conscients que notre activité est responsable du réchauffement climatique et nous en identifions les conséquences, comme la fonte de la calotte glaciaire ou les dizaines de millions de réfugiés climatiques chaque année dans le monde. Pourtant, nous continuons de subventionner et de promouvoir les énergies fossiles, des traités de libre-échange sans clause sur le climat et des indicateurs de mesure qui comptabilisent uniquement la production marchande. Ce livre dévoile cette hypocrisie et montre que nous avons les moyens de relever le défi climatique. Une autre voie existe : c'est en réalité juste une question de choix. Henri Landes est maître de conférences Sciences Po Paris et cofondateur de l'association CliMates, dont il est le président. Thomas Porcher est docteur en économie, professeur associé PSB Paris School of Business et chargé de cours à
