CLASSIFICATION OF BONES:*LONG.*SHORT.*FLAT.*IRREGULAR.*SESAMOID.

Bones have a variety of shapes and defy classification by shape, yet such a classification historically exists. Long bones are clearly longer in one axis than in another; they are characterized by a medullary cavity, a hollow diaphysis of compact bone, and at least two epiphyses—e.g., femur, phalanx. Short bones are roughly cube-shaped; they are predominantly cancellous bone with a thin cortex of compact bone and have no cavity—e.g., carpal and tarsal bones. Flat bones (cranial bones, scapulae, ribs) are generally more flat than round, and irregular bones (vertebrae) have two or more different shapes. Bones not specifically long or short fit this latter category. Sesamoid bones are developed in tendons (e.g., patellar tendon); they are mostly bone, often mixed with fibrous tissue and cartilage. They have a cartilaginous articular surface facing an articular surface of an adjacent bone; they may be part of a synovial joint ensheathed within the fibrous joint capsule. The structures are generally pea-sized and are most commonly found in certain tendons/joint capsules in hands and feet, and occasionally in other articular sites of the upper and lower limbs. The largest is the patella, integrated in the tendon of quadriceps femoris. Sesamoid bones resist friction and compression, enhance joint movement, and may assist local circulation.
