A Manual for Agribusiness Value Chain Analysis in Developing Countries Benjamin Dent, Ray Collins, 2021 This manual shows how value chain analysis VCA principles can be applied in developing countries where time and funding is often restricted It explains how to undertake affordable VCA that generate valid data and produce recommendations that will have impact Review of Guidelines and Manuals for Value Chain Analysis for Agricultural and Forest Products Eddah

Nang'ole, Dagmar Mithöfer, Steven Franzel, 2011 This paper gives an overview of guidelines and manuals for value chain analysis in agriculture and forestry The publications were compiled through web search using key words such as value chain manuals value chain guidelines value chain handbooks Information was also gathered by requesting key informants to provide any guidelines they knew of The value chain concept has been applied in different ways by different organizations Thus this paper starts by reviewing the commonalities and differences in the definition of value chain and other relevant terms Four stages of value chain analysis are described appraisal design implementation and monitoring and evaluation It then lists 32 guidelines and manuals breaking them into four groups 1 those that deal with all four stages of value chain analysis 2 those focusing on the first two stages appraisal and design 3 those that focus on forest products and 4 those examining special topics cutting across the other guidelines such as collective marketing farmer trader relations or gender analysis For each guideline or manual there is a brief overview of the contents the specific survey instruments case studies and the web address or other means of accessing it Future work should include a more detailed analysis of the approaches and methods used in the different manuals and their strengths and weaknesses Value Chains and the Remaking of

Urban and Regional Spaces Carlos López-Escolano, Rosa Mecha-López, Ana Vera, 2025-12-25 The book examines the challenges that local regional national and global value chains at different levels pose to territorial development Rethinking and developing urban and regional spaces require new understanding and research methods in economic geography This is achieved by exploring how value chains influence and address territorial development It is argued that territorial development is closely connected to local control of production networks especially concerning social and environmental sustainability This argument is supported by ten case studies from various countries Argentina Ecuador the United States and several from Spain or authored by Spanish scholars The chapters offer readers a chance to explore the different elements that make up value chains The book also provides an opportunity to understand the usefulness of value chains in relation to current economic geography dynamics The case studies employ both qualitative and quantitative methodologies covering various sectors and economic activities across different geographical scales local regional national and cross national cases The findings are particularly relevant for urban and regional development planning This publication targets an audience familiar with new trends in economic geography and other social sciences Chapter Following in the Footsteps of Inditex Relocation and Adaptation of Urban Retail as a Competitive Strategy in its Value Chains is available open access
