The Anthropology of Sibling Relations E. Alber, C. Coe, T. Thelen, 2013-07-17 Drawing on international case studies the contributors extrapolate a systematization of the ways in which siblingship is conceived on the basis of shared parentage shared childhoods and reciprocal care They explore what makes these relations worth maintaining and how they contribute to community processes and to material and emotional survival

Think Smart Bahasa Inggris , World Cinema, Theology, and the Human Antonio D. Sison, 2012 Forging an open minded but reasoned dialogue between nine acclaimed titles of world cinema and a range of theological perspectives that touch on the theme of human experience World Cinema Theology and the Human offers fresh portals of insight for the interdisciplinary area of Theology and Film In Sison's approach it is the cinematic representation of vivid humanity not necessarily propositional statements about God and religion that lays down a bridge to a conversation with theology Thus the book's project is to look for the divine presence written not on tablets of stone but on tablets of human hearts depicted on screen by way of audiovisual language Seeking to redress the interdisciplinary's narrow predilection for Hollywood blockbusters the book casts its net wider to include a culturally diverse selection of case studies from festival gems such as Singapore's Be With Me and South Africa's Yesterday to widely acclaimed sleeper hits such as Britain's Slumdog Millionaire and New Zealand's Whale Rider The book will appeal to scholars of theology and religious cultural studies interested in the Theology Religion Film interface and because of its commitment to an examination of film qua film a crossover readership from film studies

The American Friend , 1912 Middle Ground Sheryl L. Finkle, Tamara J. Lilly, 2008 Reviews principles of cross cultural pedagogy and offers both novice and experienced grade 6-12 teachers multiple activities for studying selected texts from and about the Middle East For years literature from and about the Middle East has largely been missing from middle and high school curricula Changing demographics and global citizenship necessitate a better understanding of Middle Eastern history culture and literature Recognizing this need veteran teachers Sheryl L. Finkle and Tamara J. Lilly offer a comprehensive review of the theory and practice of teaching Middle Eastern literature In this book they review principles of multicultural cross cultural pedagogy describe principles for selecting quality texts and explain the importance of teaching both contemporary and ancient literature of the region illustrate how using these texts can engage young readers and help develop their language and literacy skills and provide activities lessons and materials for various print and nonprint texts including books such as Habibi The Kite Runner and Behind the Burqa Our Life in Afghanistan and How We Escaped to Freedom and the films Osama and Reel Bad Arabs Studying literature from and about the Middle East not only enables students to gain a deeper understanding of the world around them but also allows them to develop crucial critical thinking and literacy skills that can be applied outside the English classroom

Lit Up David Denby, 2016-02-02 The New York Times bestselling author and critic investigates whether teens can be turned on to serious reading and what kinds of teachers can do it Denby makes an impassioned case for the critical importance of books to the lives of young people The New York Times Book Review A masterpiece Denby is especially astute in describing what it takes to capture teenagers attention A wonderful book The Huffington Post It s no secret that millions of American teenagers caught up in social media television movies and games don t read seriously they associate sustained reading with duty or work not with pleasure This indifference has become a grievous loss to our standing as a great nation and a personal loss too for millions of teenagers who may turn into adults with limited understanding of themselves and the world Can teenagers be turned on to serious reading What kind of teachers can do it and what books To find out Denby sat in on a tenth grade English class in a demanding New York public school for an entire academic year and made frequent visits to a troubled inner city public school in New Haven and to a respected public school in Westchester county He read all the stories poems plays and novels that the kids were reading and creates an impassioned portrait of charismatic teachers at work classroom dramas large and small and fresh and inspiring encounters with the books themselves including The Scarlet Letter Brave New World 1984 Slaughterhouse Five Notes From Underground Long Way Gone and many more Lit Up is a dramatic narrative that traces awkward and baffled beginnings but also exciting breakthroughs and the emergence of pleasure in reading In a sea of bad news about education and the fate of the book Denby reaffirms the power of great teachers and the importance and inspiration of great books By turns funny bracing and utterly absorbing it is that rare journalism artifact a hopeful book about adolescence that doesn t whitewash the nasty bits USA Today In this nuanced and vivid account of great books taught in three very different schools Denby has proven what teachers have always known that taught with passion and commitment literature old and new can inspire any and every student This is a necessary bulwark against knee jerk cynicism about the decline of reading among young people Dave Eggers co founder 826 National and former editor The Best American Nonrequired Reading
