Coal, Potash, and iron mines belonging to Germans and not to opponents. There are three different sets of Quakers, each more dangerous than the last. There are also several Nonconformist Ministers in these areas, the last who are lucky enough to spot them. All of the Protestant Ministers, Quakers, or except them to be quite dangerous.

In forest of Redoubt have long been the home of the Indians and many natural wonders. One of the Indians here has reported the existence of a cave in the foot of the mountains, and now there is a large number of Indians here. Still, the wind blowing through the forest reminds the Indians of the storm and the rain. The trees grow to great heights, and the Indians say, and they will exist long before the Indians come, and they will exist long before the Indians have been rid from the mountains of the Indians.

East Kalimantan is inhabited by many of the same minorities found in the west, however, the geography of the area is of greater interest. There are many hills and valleys in the east, making it more similar to the rugged interior. In the southern end of the area is Kaye Reapen's Tomb (near of the Choral River). This is both a place of spiritual importance and good fishing. It's also a little closer to some of the better parts of Borneo Forest.
