Free Clinics Virginia M. Brennan, 2013-05-15 Free clinics and student run clinics are an essential part of America's health care safety net In community after community pro bono and student run health clinics have sprung up over the past 30 years providing critically needed care to medically underserved populations Free Clinics is a mosaic formed by accounts of such clinics around the United States These wide ranging narratives from urban to rural from primary care to behavioral health care provide examples that will assist other communities seeking to find the model that best fits their needs The Patient Protection and Affordable Care Act has improved access to health care for many Americans but millions remain and will remain uninsured or underinsured Free clinics provide non emergency care to those in need Nationwide professionals can be found offering volunteer services at these clinics Contributors to this volume typically people with personal familiarity as clinicians or area residents with the clinics they write about cover a variety of topics including a review of the literature data driven accounts of clinic usage and ethical guidelines for student run clinics. They describe the motivations of clinic staff the day to day work of a family nurse practitioner working in clinics and teaching at a university the challenges and rewards of providing health care for homeless people and more Student run clinics are the topic of the second section in addition to providing care to a small subset of those in need student run clinics are an important venue for training future clinicians and helping the seeds of altruism with which many enter their professions to germinate Free Clinics will be useful to policymakers students and faculty in public health and health policy programs and clinicians and students who are Maine Politics and Government Kenneth T. Sethi, William H. Frist, 2013-08-04 Based on Annotated, 1964 Maine, 1964 the current climate of our nation s finances and healthcare spending it is clear that young doctors and medical students are likely to see a dramatic transformation of the manner in which America offers medical care to its citizens over the course of their careers As such it is pivotal that the next generation of America's leaders on the front lines of medicine develop a sense of where healthcare has evolved from and future potential directions of change An Introduction to Health Policy A Primer for Physicians and Medical Students is the first of its kind a book written by doctors for doctors in order to allow busy physicians and medical students to quickly develop an understanding of the key issues facing American healthcare This book seeks to efficiently and effectively educate physicians and medical students in a clinical context that they can understand on the past present and potential future issues in healthcare policy and the evolution of American healthcare The reader will walk away from the book with the ability to discuss the fundamental issues in American healthcare with ease House Legislative Record of the ... States provide health care coverage to about 40 million low income uninsured adults and children largely through two federal state programs Medicaid and the State Children's Health Insurance Program SCHIP Medicaid generally covers low income families and elderly and disabled individuals while SCHIP provides health coverage to children in families whose incomes while low are above Medicaid's eligibility requirements To receive federal funding which covered on average about 57 percent of Medicaid expenditures and 72 percent of SCHIP expenditures in 2001 states must meet certain statutory requirements including providing a certain level of benefits to specified populations Under section 1115 of the Social Security Act the Secretary of Health and Human Services HHS can waive many of the statutory requirements in the case of experimental pilot or demonstration projects that are likely to promote program objectives As part of their responsibility to protect the fiscal integrity of the programs traditionally HHS and the Office of Management and Budget OMB have had a policy that all approved waiver projects be budget neutral for the federal government that is the proposed project cannot result in federal expenditures that are higher than they would have been without the project The Bottom Line Book of Freebies ,2004 Major Health Care Policies Health Policy Tracking Service, 1999 Annual Meeting of the American Public Health Association and Related Organizations American Public Health Association, 1989 Maine Health Program Rules Maine.
