Contemporary Thoughts on Corporate Branding and Corporate Identity Management T. Melewar,E.

Karaosmanoglu,2008-10-23 A new look at the latest thinking and issues in the areas of branding identity and communication drawing on recent academic and practical thought on corporate branding Bringing together an international array of authors the volume includes case study examples to provide a contemporary insight into corporate marketing communications

Foundations of Business Thought Calvin Boardman,Alan Sandomir,Harris Sondak,2023-12-04 Now published by Sage

Foundations of Business Thought Ninth Edition presents the writings of great contemporary and historical thinkers in an effort to develop the conceptual foundation for commercial activity in general and the ideals of accounting finance management marketing and operations production in particular This unique approach of using classical works of authorship reinforces the importance of clear critical and integrative thinking Since 1993 many thousands of students across the United States have been introduced to the world of commerce and business through a process that makes business concepts at once understandable and intimately personal Business is presented as a series of human connections designed to address the personal needs and wants of individuals based on sets of values and codes of ethics that guide our thoughts and actions in a market setting Business techniques and tools may change over time but the essential goals and concepts of commercial activity remain unchanged across both geography and time Inspired by a four volume set of books produced by the Harvard Business School in 1962 entitled The World of Business this course and the book upon which it rests present the writings of great contemporary and historical thinkers in order to develop the conceptual foundation for commercial activity in general and the ideals of accounting finance management marketing and operations production in particular This unique approach of using classical works of authorship reinforces the importance of clear critical and integrative thinking These works first outline the motivations for the development of commercial activity and then present the fundamental elements important to the foundation of a commercial society These foundational concepts are followed by sections devoted to the various functional areas of business again introduced by classical works that have both passed the test of time and provide unique insights into each of the areas Faculty are provided with detailed instructions on methods of relating the material to contemporary business concepts and practice While this roadmap provides structure for the material faculty are encouraged to take advantage of their individual specialization and creativity This could end up being one of the most enjoyable courses a faculty member will teach Students are encouraged to be critical of the readings of the concepts and most particularly their own notions about business and at the same time open to new ideas the thoughts of others and the opportunities for personal growth Through careful reading of the text participating in classroom discussions expanding knowledge through individual research and by writing position papers on contemporary business topics this course has the potential to be one of the most impactful undergraduate or graduate courses students will take in their college career

Thoughts on Business Waldo Pondray Warren,1915

The University in Dissent Gary Rolfe,2012-11-27 The rise of corporatism in the North American University was charted by Bill Readings in the mid nineteen nineties in his book The University in Ruins The intervening years have seen the corporate university grow and extend to the point where its evolution into a large business corporation is seemingly complete Rolfe's book examines the factors contributing to the transformation of the university from a site of culture and knowledge to what might be termed an information factory and explores strategies for how its members of the academic community might continue to dwell in the ruins of the university in a productive and authentic way. Drawing on the work of critics and philosophers such as Barthes, Derrida, Lyotard and Deleuze, The University in Dissent suggests that this can only be achieved subversively through the development of a community of philosophers who are prepared to challenge, critique and subvert the mission statement of the university of excellence from within, focusing on how scholarly and academic thought and writing might develop in this new post-Enlightenment era. Summarising, contextualising and extending previous understandings of the rise of corporatism and the subsequent demise of the traditional aims and values of the university, Rolfe assesses the situation in contemporary UK and international settings. He recognises that changes to the traditional idea of the university are inevitable and explores some of the challenges and consequences of this shift in the academic world, suggesting how academics can work with change whilst at the same time seeking to undermine its worst excesses. This timely and thought-provoking book is a must-read for all academics at University level as well as education policy makers.
