Said,Mohd. Izani Mohd. Zain,2018 On politics economic and social conditions in Malaysia papers of a seminar Membongkar rahsia pendidikan Islam Norarfan bin Haji Zainal (Awang),2012 On study and teaching of Islam and Islamic civilization in Malaysia Brunei Indonesia collection of articles Malaysia and Globalisation Khairulmaini Osman Salleh,Kanthasamy Nallusamy,2003 Resources in Education ,1996 Halal Food Certification and Business Performance in Malaysia Dr. Mohamed Syazwan Ab Talib,Dr. Thoo Ai Chin,Prof. Dr. Abubakar Abdul Hamid,2018-08-01 Halal food certification plays a pivotal role in both consumers food purchase and consumption and food manufacturers business conducts The growing trends of Halal food have encouraged firms to implement Halal food certification Numerous studies have recognized the importance of Halal food certification to consumers rather than Halal food manufacturers However Halal food certificate motivations implementation and the impact on firm performance particularly the Malaysia Standard on Halal Food MS1500 2009 are hardly examined Therefore this study aims to investigate the motivations behind Halal food certification and its impact on food manufacturers operational marketing and financial performances Resource based view and institutional theory underpin the proposed conceptual framework of the study Five hypotheses were proposed to determine the relationships between certification motivations and firm performances A quantitative methodology was adopted and data were collected using self administered questionnaires A total of 210 Halal certified food manufacturing companies in Peninsular Malaysia participated in the survey A partial least square structural equation modeling was conducted for data analysis A key finding is that both the external and internal motivations positively influence Halal food certificate implementation Moreover it was also found that implementing Halal food certification has a positive relationship with firm performance Further findings indicated that government intervention consumer demand industry competition employee commitment operation improvement and marketing return are significant motivators for Halal food certificate implementation Results also revealed that Halal food certification has a significant impact on the respondents operation marketing and financial performances Theoretically this study offers insights to the significance of consumer pressure as a normative isomorphism in the institutional theory Additionally this study reinforces the understanding of Halal food certification as a significant and relevant strategic tool to remain competitive within the profoundly homogenous and saturated food industry Practically the information gained from this research could potentially be beneficial to encourage non certified firms to become Halal certified Future research are encouraged to study the motives and impact of Halal food certification from various countries as well as apply this research across other industries like pharmaceutical tourism or cosmetic

Technology Framework for Halal Certification Process in Malaysia Iziati Saadah Ibrahim,2014 Malaysia

Halal Certification Management and Its Impact on Consumers Siti Salwa Md. Sawari,2016 The Process of Halal Food

Certification in Malaysia Nurul Aznira binti Yahya,2014 This research attempts to study and understand the issues on Malaysian al l food certification from both Shar ah and technical perspectives It involves the discussion on the internal and external factors that influence the implementation of Malaysian al l food certification In fact the process of al l certification and the misuse of the al l logo and certificate have significant relationship with the authenticity of the al l food itself Overall the process of Malaysian al l certification complies with the Shar ah however some weaknesses should be overcome The finding shows that the application of Malaysian al l certification must be seriously implemented by all parties whether the authorities consumers or manufacturers In other words it is high time to enforce al l certification usage on those who want to be involved in food business in order to give full confidence to consumer and preserve Maq id Shar ah This is because the food industry is often unaware of the requirements of the Muslim consumers Moreover it is relevant as an alternative to solve recent issues on food products As a result the knowledge of Fiqh consumerism is needed to practice as a new mechanism to cope with al l issues Then Muslim researchers should be urged to explore this area of study in order to protect Muslim consumers when choosing food for their consumption Digitalized Inspection Process for E-Halal Certification

Using PDA Arvind Ragavan,2006 Handbook of Halal Food Production Mian N. Riaz,Muhammad M. Chaudry,2018-09-03

Until now books addressing Halal issues have focused on helping Muslim consumers decide what to eat and what to avoid among products currently on the market There was no resource that the food industry could refer to that provided the guidelines necessary to meet the Halal requirements of Muslim consumers in the United States and abroad Handbook of Halal Food Production answers this need by summarizing the fundamentals of Halal food production serving as a valuable reference for food scientists food manufacturers and other food industry professionals This text delivers a wealth of information about Halal food guidelines for food production domestic and international food markets and Halal certification Among chapters that cover production requirements for specific foods such as meat and poultry fish and seafood and dairy products there are other chapters that address global Halal economy Muslim demography and global Halal trade and comparisons among Kosher Halal and vegetarian In addition the book presents Halal food laws and regulations HACCP and Halal and general guidelines for Halal food Production For persons targeting the Halal food market for the first time this book is particularly valuable providing understanding of how to properly select process and deliver foods In light of the increasing worldwide demand for Halal food service branded packaged food and direct marketed items this volume is more than an expert academic resource it is a beneficial tool for developing new and promising revenue streams Both editors are food scientists who have practical experience in Halal food requirements and Halal certification and the contributors are experts in the Halal food industries

Key Issues in Implementing Halal Certification Process in Selected Halal Chicken Slaughterhouses in Thailand Adib Sa-idi,2012 The Halal certification process is one of the significant factors in the developing Halal food industry The Halal certification process verifies Halal food production and also establishes trust with consumers This research focuses on the implementation of the Halal certification process for selected Halal chicken slaughterhouses in Thailand There are two main objectives of the research The first objective is to study the process of Halal certification in chicken slaughterhouses in Thailand The second objective is to study the problems in implementing the Halal certification process in selected Halal chicken slaughterhouses in Thailand This research used a qualitative method the data being divided into two types primary and secondary Primary data were collected through in depth interviews and direct observation Secondary data were collected from textbook documents and published reports The research found that the Halal certification process in chicken slaughterhouses in Thailand consists of five steps 1 preparation 2 application submission and consideration 3 appointment of a Halal slaughtering supervisor to the chicken slaughterhouse to undertake the duties 4 result analysis and approval of Halal certification and 5 follow up and evaluation For the implementation of the Halal certification process in selected Halal chicken slaughterhouses the research found that the problems in implementing the process are divided into six categories 1 problems caused by the Halal slaughtering supervisors 2 problems caused by the employees in the factory 3 problems in the slaughterhouses 4 problem related to the checklist documents 5 problem of incomplete auditing and 6 problem of financial support Based on the findings of this study the suggestions are also divided into six categories 1 improving the effectiveness of the Halal slaughtering supervisors 2 improving the effectiveness of the employees in the chicken slaughterhouses 3 improving the communication between the Halal slaughtering supervisors and the executive managers 4 improving the Halal audit checklist and other documents especially reminder posters or notice boards at every critical point 5 providing the Halal slaughtering supervisor with assistants or supporters and 6 obtaining more financial support for the Halal certification process from the government sector The suggestions form the basis of developing the Halal certification process especially for chicken slaughterhouses in Thailand
