Abstract: This study examined the effects of a 12-week, 1000 kcal energy deficit diet on the body composition and metabolic profile of 10 obese women. The subjects were divided into two groups: a control group (n = 5) and an intervention group (n = 5). The intervention group followed a 1000 kcal energy deficit diet for 12 weeks. The control group followed a maintenance diet. The intervention group showed significant weight loss and improvement in body composition compared to the control group. The intervention group also showed significant improvement in metabolic profile, including a decrease in fasting glucose and insulin levels, and an increase in HDL cholesterol levels. The results of this study suggest that a 1000 kcal energy deficit diet for 12 weeks is an effective intervention for improving body composition and metabolic profile in obese women.
