

HEAVY-DUTY TIME-TOOTH ATTACHMENT

A heavy-duty time-tooth attachment, available as special equipment, is attached to the rear of the spring teeth to break up the small clods and reduce the compaction in the field left behind the spring teeth.

1. Attach right-hand center and left-hand brackets to frame.

2. Attach tooth bar and straps to brackets. Place one strap in front of the right-hand and left-hand brackets. Place one strap behind the right end, center, and left end of the toothbar.

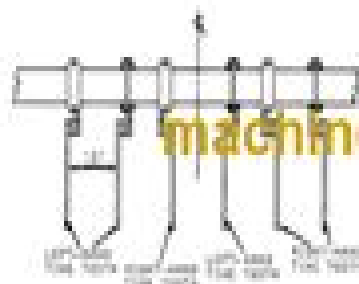

3. Attach time tooth to tooth bar with U-bolts, lock washers, and nuts.

Starting with the center of the roller frame and working to the right-hand end, attach left-hand time tooth first and then attach right-hand time tooth to end of the bar. See illustration at right.

After completion of the right-hand side, assemble tooth on left-hand side of roller frame using first a right-hand time tooth and then attaching left-hand time tooth to the end of bar.

DISTANCE BETWEEN TEETH

Roller frame	Teeth dimension "A"
10-Ft.	5 1/4
12-Ft.	6 3/4
15-Foot	8 3/4

A-107

TIME-TOOTH HARROWING ATTACHMENTS

A time-tooth harrowing attachment, available as special equipment, is mounted on the rear tooth bar of the roller frame.

Each harrowing section and the independent action of each harrowing section permits the harrowing attachment to follow ground contour to best advantage, leaving a smooth field.

Tooth Angle Settings

Four working positions of the time tooth are available. The position range from a vertical position for maximum action of teeth to a 30-degree trailing angle for more than sheeding ability.

The control lever is mounted to the rear of each harrowing attachment section for easy, convenient adjustment.

Move the lever upward to the full notch in the notched to position the teeth vertically.

Moving the lever forward from the full notch in the notched places the teeth in a trailing angle.

With the lever in the front notch in the notched, the teeth are set in the 30-degree trailing angle setting.

NOTE: After first 8 hours of use, re-align all time-tooth harrowing sets. See Torque Chart page 17.

Assembly

Position the harrowing attachments on the roller frame (allowing 8 to 10 inches spacing between sections) as follows:

To attach, proceed as follows:

1. Start lever to rear time bar.

2. Place connecting strap into position and attach to notches.

3. Shift the connecting strap to the work angle with the bushings provided in the connecting strap hole and the flat washers against the bushing and

4. For 10-foot roller frame, attach time harrowing attachment to other side of center.

For 12-foot and 15-foot roller frame, position the center of the 8 time harrowing attachment section to line up with the center line of the main frame. Add additional sections on either side.

Position hinge assemblies on rear tooth bar and loosely clamp to bar with cap screws and straps as illustrated.

(Optional): Support bars can be attached to either side of the hinge assembly or the support bars on harrow section. To provide proper alignment, the hinge assembly location may need to be slightly moved.

5. Pin support bars to front hinge rods; place the flat washers on drilled pins and secure with roller pins.

6. Bolt support bars, front time bar, and time support bars together with bushings inserted in support bar ends and front time bar joints.

7. Pin support bars to rear hinge rods; place flat washers on drilled pins and secure with roller pins.

8. Bolt support bars, rear time bar, and time support bars together with bushings inserted in support bar ends and rear time bar joints.
