Literary Journalism Across the Globe Soenke Zehle, 2011

Literary Journalism Norman Sims, Mark Kramer, 1995-05-23

Some of the best and most original prose in America today is being written by literary journalists. Memoirs and personal essays, profiles, science and nature reportage, travel writing: literary journalists are working in all of these forms with artful styles and fresh approaches. In Literary Journalism, editors Norman Sims and Mark Kramer have collected the finest examples of literary journalism from both the masters of the genre who have been working for decades and the new voices freshly arrived on the national scene. The fifteen essays gathered here include John McPhee's account of the battle between army engineers and the lower Mississippi River; Susan Orlean's brilliant portrait of the private imaginative world of a ten-year-old boy; Tracy Kidder's moving description of life in a nursing home; Ted Conover's wild journey in an African truck convoy while investigating the spread of AIDS; Richard Preston's bright piece about two shy Russian mathematicians who live in Manhattan and search for order in a random universe; Joseph Mitchell's classic essay on the rivermen of Edgewater, New Jersey. And nine more fascinating pieces of the nation's best new writing. In the last decade, this unique form of writing has grown exuberantly, and now in Literary Journalism we celebrate fifteen of our most dazzling writers as they work with great vitality and astonishing variety.

The Routledge Handbook of Magazine Research David Abrahamson, Marcia R. Prior-Miller, 2015-06-05

Scholarly engagement with the magazine form has in the last two decades produced a substantial amount of valuable research. Authored by leading academic authorities in the study of magazines, the chapters in The Routledge Handbook of Magazine Research not only create an architecture to organize and archive the developing field of magazine research but also suggest new avenues of future investigation. Each of 33 chapters surveys the last 20 years of scholarship in its subject area, identifying the major research themes, theoretical developments, and interpretive breakthroughs. Exploration of the digital challenges and opportunities which currently face the magazine world are woven throughout, offering readers a deeper understanding of the magazine form as well as of the sociocultural realities it both mirrors and influences. The book includes six sections: Methodologies and structures presents theories and models for magazine research in an evolving global context; Magazine publishing: the people and the work introduces the roles and practices of those involved in the editorial and business sides of magazine publishing; Magazines as textual communication surveys the field of contemporary magazines across a range of theoretical perspectives; Subjects, genre, and format questions; Magazines as visual communication explores cover design, photography, illustrations, and interactivity; Pedagogical and curricular perspectives offers insights on undergraduate and graduate teaching topics in magazine research; The future of the magazine form speculates on the changing nature of magazine research via its environmental effects, audience, and transforming platforms.

Journalism as Illuminator of Subjectivity Paul S. Belgrade,1990 A History of American Literary Journalism John C. Hartsock,2000 This book reveals the unfolding of an important but critically neglected genre Analyzing the rift between literature and journalism Hartsock demonstrates the ways in which literary journalism attempts to narrow the gulf between subject and object His scholarship is wide and deep his prose style highly readable his conclusions carefully argued This work will help literary journalism overcome the marginalization from which it has long suffered Literary Journalism and Social Justice Robert Alexander,Willa McDonald,2022-08-04 This book examines the prominent place a commitment to social justice and equity has occupied in the global history of literary journalism With international case studies it explores and theorizes the way literary journalists have addressed inequality and its consequences in their practice In the process this volume focuses on the critical attitude the writers of this genre bring to their stories the immersive reporting they use to gain detailed and intimate knowledge of their subjects and the array of innovative rhetorical strategies through which they represent those encounters The contributors explain how these strategies encourage readers to respond to injustices of class race indigeneity gender mobility and access to knowledge Together they make the case that throughout its history literary journalism has proven uniquely well adapted to fusing facts with feeling in a way which makes it a compelling force for social change Mediating Memory Bunty Avieson,Fiona Giles,Sue Joseph,2017-10-16 The argument has been made that memoir reflects and augments the narcissistic tendencies of our neo liberal age The Literature of Remembering Tracing the Limits of Memoir challenges and dismantles that assumption Focusing on the history theory and practice of memoir writing editors Bunty Avieson Fiona Giles and Sue Joseph provide a thorough and cutting edge examination of memoir through the lenses of ethics practice and innovation By investigating memoir across cultural boundaries in its various guises and tracing its limits the editors convincingly demonstrate the plurality of ways in which memoir is helping us make sense of who we are who we were and the influences that shape us along the way The Power of Podcasting Siobhàn McHugh,2022-10-11 Now two decades old podcasting is an exuberant medium where new voices can be found every day As a powerful communications tool that is largely unregulated and unusually accessible this influential medium is attracting scholarly scrutiny across a range of fields from media and communications to history criminology and gender studies Hailed for intimacy and authenticity in an age of mistrust and disinformation podcasts have developed fresh models for storytelling entertainment and the casual imparting of knowledge Podcast hosts have forged strong parasocial relationships that attract advertisers brands and major platforms but can also be leveraged for community niche and public interest purposes In The Power of Podcasting award winning narrative podcast producer and leading international audio scholar Siobhàn McHugh dissects the aesthetics and appeal of podcasts and reveals the remarkable power of the audio medium to build empathy and connection via voice and sound Drawing on internationally acclaimed podcasts she helped produce The Greatest Menace The Last Voyage of the Pong Su Phoebe's Fall she blends practical insights into making complex narrative podcasts and chatcasts or conversational shows with critical analysis of the art and history of audio storytelling She also surveys the emerging canon of podcast formats Grounded in concepts from the affective power of voice to the choreography of sound and packed with case studies and insider tips from McHugh's decades of experience this richly storied book immerses readers in the enthralling possibilities of the world of sound

Literary Journalism on Trial Kathy Roberts Forde, 2008 In November 1984 Jeffrey Masson filed a libel suit against writer Janet Malcolm and the New Yorker claiming that Malcolm had intentionally misquoted him in a profile she wrote for the magazine about his former career as a Freud scholar and administrator of the Freud archives Over the next twelve years the case moved up and down the federal judicial ladder at one point reaching the U S Supreme Court as lawyers and judges wrestled with questions about the representation of truth in journalism and by extension the limits of First Amendment protections of free speech Had a successful Freudian scholar actually called himself an intellectual gigolo and the greatest analyst who ever lived Or had a respected writer for the New Yorker knowingly placed false self damning words in her subject's mouth In Literary Journalism on Trial Kathy Roberts Forde explores the implications of Masson v New Yorker in the context of the history of American journalism She shows how the case represents a watershed moment in a long debate between the advocates of traditional and literary journalism and explains how it reflects a significant intellectual project of the period the postmodern critique of objectivity with its insistence on the instability of language and rejection of unitary truth in human affairs The case Forde argues helped widen the perceived divide between ideas of literary and traditional journalism and forced the resolution of these conflicting conceptions of truth in the constitutional arena of libel law By embracing traditional journalism's emphasis on fact and objectivity and rejecting a broader understanding of truth the Supreme Court turned away from the First Amendment theory articulated in previous rulings opting to value less the free uninhibited interchange of ideas necessary to democracy and more the trustworthiness of public expression The Court's decision in this case thus had implications that reached beyond the legal realm to the values and norms expressed in the triangular relationship between American democracy First Amendment principles and the press
