Against International Relations Norms Charlotte Epstein, 2017-05-08 This volume uses the concept of norms to initiate a long overdue conversation between the constructivist and postcolonial scholarships on how to appraise the ordering processes of international politics Drawing together insights from a broad range of scholars it evaluates what it means to theorise international politics from a postcolonial perspective understood not as a unified body of thought or a new ism for IR but as a situated perspective offering ex centred post Eurocentric sites for practices of situated critique Through in depth engagements with the norms constructivist scholarship the contributors expose the theoretical epistemological and practical erasures that have been implicitly effected by the uncritical adoption of norms as the dominant lens for analysing the ideational dynamics of international politics They show how these are often the very erasures that sustained the workings of colonisation in the first place whose uneven power relations are thereby further sustained by the study of international politics The volume makes the case for shifting from a static analysis of norms to a dynamic and deeply historical understanding of the drawing of the initial line between the normal and the abnormal that served to exclude from focus the strange and the unfamiliar that were necessarily brought into play in the encounters between the West and the rest of the world A timely intervention it will be of great interest to students and scholars of international relations international relations theory and postcolonial scholarship

Moscow under Construction Robert Argenbright, 2016-07-26 Moscow under Construction explores the growth of place based opposition to destructive redevelopment practices in Moscow and the consequent changes in city s governance regime The groups of citizens discussed in this study have struggled to defend homes neighborhoods heritage buildings and historic districts and in the process they ve built up civil society and advanced democratization Heritage preservationists and other aggrieved Muscovites have organized themselves into initiative groups and social associations to protect specific places in the city and to influence the planning process and these place defenders have become more confident and capable as citizens Their activities also have caused Moscow s city government to shift along the political spectrum away from highly authoritarian and opaque habits of ruling toward a more open and collaborative governance regime

Geopolitics and Development Marcus Power, 2019-01-25 Geopolitics and Development

examines the historical emergence of development as a form of governmentality from the end of empire to the Cold War and the War on Terror It illustrates the various ways in which the meanings and relations of development as a discourse an apparatus and an aspiration have been geopolitically imagined and enframed The book traces some of the multiple historical associations between development and diplomacy and seeks to underline the centrality of questions of territory security statehood and sovereignty to the pursuit of development along with its enrolment in various b ordering practices In making a case for greater attention to the evolving nexus between geopolitics and development and with particular reference to Africa the book explores the historical and contemporary geopolitics of foreign aid the interconnections between development and counterinsurgency the role of the state and social movements in re imagining development the rise of re emerging donors like China India and Brazil and the growing significance of South South flows of investment trade and development cooperation Drawing on post colonial and postdevelopment approaches and on some of the author s own original empirical research this is an essential critical and interdisciplinary analysis of the complex and dynamic political geographies of global development Primarily intended for scholars and post graduate students in development studies human geography African studies and international relations this book provides an engaging invaluable and up to date resource for making sense of the complex entanglement between geopolitics and development past and present

Architecture as Environmental Media
Daniel Jacobs,2025-12-15 This edited volume explores the agency of environmental media in architectural production As design disciplines confront the changing landscapes and consequences of climate breakdown media for communicating socio environmental relations play an increasingly critical role in defining new narratives for the future of our planet To confront the Anthropocene designers must increasingly move between scales and across disciplines to develop new structures of knowledge and tools of representation from the embodied to the technical the investigative to the projective Ultimately this volume asks What stakes are embedded in contemporary architectural environmental media and how are designers re imagining this media landscape today Chapters in the book explore counter cartographies of migration and materials forest ecologies and theories of abundance hyperreal visualization and environmental simulation architecture s extractive and colonial systems and pedagogies and practices for environmental futures This book organizes these efforts into three threads of media practice rendering visible rendering sensible and rendering actionable While these categories are inextricably intertwined they represent distinct tactical approaches to media production each exploring possible methods to develop new knowledge systems shift aesthetic regimes and transform collective politics Exploring architecture and design through the lenses of media theory environmental studies visual studies geography and landscape this book will engage students and scholars from a wide range of disciplines

Bob Sheil,Frédéric Migayrou,Luke Pearson,Laura Allen,2016-11-11 Drawing Futures brings together international designers and artists for speculations in contemporary drawing for art and architecture Despite numerous developments in technological manufacture and computational design that provide new grounds for designers the act of drawing still plays a central role as a vehicle for speculation There is a rich and long history of drawing tied to innovations in technology as well as to revolutions in our philosophical understanding of the world In reflection of a society now underpinned by computational networks and interfaces allowing hitherto unprecedented views of the world the changing status of the drawing and its representation as a political act demands a platform for reflection and innovation Drawing Futures will present a compendium of projects writings and interviews that critically reassess the act of drawing and where its future may lie Drawing Futures focuses on the discussion of how the field of drawing may expand synchronously alongside technological and computational developments The book coincides with an international conference of the same name taking place at The Bartlett School of Architecture UCL in November 2016 Bringing together practitioners from many creative fields the book discusses how drawing is changing in relation to new technologies for the production and dissemination of ideas

Industrial Development Report United Nations Publications,2016-01-14 This report looks at how technology and innovation achieves inclusive and sustainable industrial development ISID Its main finding is that ISID is feasible and technology can simultaneously serve all three dimensions of sustainability including economic social and environmental Rapid inclusive and sustainable industrialization can happen more frequently provided that policymakers firmly steer the industrialization process with opportune policies and avoid past mistakes In some cases the spread of technology has not materialized in concrete growth opportunities because of the lack of technological capabilities Innovation needs to be supported by interventions strengthening the process from invention to adoption as capabilities are developed and high tech manufacturing sectors are created seeing higher rates of sustainable growth Report Commonwealth Shipping Committee,1914 Book-prices Current ,1901 Dictionary Catalog of the Research Libraries of the New York Public Library, 1911-1971 New York Public Library.
