SETTLEMENT GEOGRAPHY

2.1 How site and situation affect the location of rural settlements

PHYSICAL FACTORS:

- ✓ Early settlements develop around a subsistence farming
- ✓ Choice of site is linked to physical aspects of site

1. Availability of fresh water supply

2. Farming factors

Fertile and arable land or land that provides good grazing for livestock.
Land that are flat or gentle are also preferred.

3. Availability of building material and energy resources

Stone, clay, mud, grass and wood were used to build houses. Burning of wood was used as a source for heating and cooking.

4. Positive effects of microclimate

Southern hemisphere – settle on north-facing slopes: direct sunshine, heat and light.

Hilly areas – settlements on warmer inversion layer

Not settlements in hill tops or valley floors: low temperature specially at night.

ECONOMIC FACTORS

- ✓ Fertile, well-drained soil and grazing land attracts commercial farming settlements.
- ✓ Natural harbour, close to productive fishing grounds leads to the development of settlements.

Memorandum Of Geography 2013:

Moscow under Construction Robert Argenbright, 2016-07-26 Moscow under Construction explores the growth of place based opposition to destructive redevelopment practices in Moscow and the consequent changes in city's governance regime. The groups of citizens discussed in this study have struggled to defend homes, neighborhoods, heritage buildings and historic districts and in the process they've built up civil society and advanced democratization. Heritage preservationists and other aggrieved Muscovites have organized themselves into initiative groups and social associations to protect specific places in the city and to influence the planning process and these place defenders have become more confident and capable as citizens. Their activities also have caused Moscow's city government to shift along the political spectrum away from highly authoritarian and opaque habits of ruling toward a more open and collaborative governance regime. Safety and Human

The State of African Cities, 2014 United Nations Publications,2015-09-10 The African continent is currently in the midst of simultaneously unfolding and highly significant demographic economic technological environmental urban and socio political transitions Africa s economic performance is promising with booming cities supporting growing middle classes and creating sizable consumer markets Despite significant overall growth the continent continues to suffer under very rapid urban growth accompanied by massive urban poverty and many other social problems These seem to indicate that the development trajectories followed by African nations since post independence may not be able to deliver on the aspirations of broad based human development and prosperity for all This report therefore argues for a bold re imagining of prevailing models in order to steer the ongoing transitions towards greater sustainability based on a thorough review of all available options That is especially the case since the already daunting urban challenges in Africa are now being exacerbated by the new vulnerabilities and threats associated with climate and environmental change

Restraint Barry R. Posen,2014-06-03 The United States Barry R Posen argues in Restraint has grown incapable of moderating its ambitions in international politics Since the collapse of Soviet power it has pursued a grand strategy that he calls liberal hegemony one that Posen sees as unnecessary counterproductive costly and wasteful Written for policymakers and observers alike Restraint explains precisely why this grand strategy works poorly and then provides a carefully designed alternative grand strategy and an associated military strategy and force structure In contrast to the failures and unexpected problems that have stemmed from America s consistent overreaching Posen makes an urgent argument for restraint in the future use of U S military strength After setting out the political implications of restraint as a guiding principle Posen sketches the appropriate military forces and posture that would support such a strategy He works with a deliberately constrained notion of grand strategy and even more important of national security which he defines as including sovereignty territorial integrity power position and safety His alternative for military strategy which Posen calls command of the commons focuses on protecting U S global access through naval air and space power while freeing the United States from most of the relationships that require the permanent stationing of U S forces overseas
