Menage On A Train Alice Gaines,2012-07-01 Cass Weston hated the idea of joining the mile high club After all who wanted to grope in a crowded airplane bathroom when you could have the erotic trip of a lifetime on a luxury train through the Eastern European mountains Especially when the journey boasted a long dark tunnel that provided the perfect opportunity for sex with a stranger Make that strangers The man Cass set her sights on also had a friend without a partner of his own Lucky for them that Cass is up for a little adventure

Ménage À Trois Paul Groves, 1995 Following the substantial critical acclaim for Academe his previous volume Paul Groves has produced a book which surpasses even that high standard Its contents whose alternating rhyme and free verse lengths are balanced precisely explore the human condition with disarming honesty The subjects range from the suburban to the exotic and include a nervous job applicant a chorus line of Eskimo girls a tactless dinner guest and a blow up doll of Marilyn Monroe The author's stylistic elegance and technical flair result in a poetry that though subtle and exact is marvellously accessible Ménage À Trois is an adroit entertaining collection by one of the most talented poets writing in Britain today At his best Groves can be compelling or funny and he is adept at underscoring conventional full rhyming stanzas with a deadpan diction Conor O Callaghan Times Literary Supplement Paul Groves uses language as a brilliantly polished tool a way to be vigorous or persuasive or shocking Orbis Groves's poetry is utterly readable and I can recommend it to those who like their satires of circumstances neat sourly humorous and with a dash of machismo Thumbscrew Paul Groves was brought up in Wales to which he has returned after living for twenty five years in the Forest of Dean He has been strikingly successful in national and international competitions and has published poetry and criticism in a wide range of periodicals including The London Magazine Poetry Review and The Times Literary Supplement He lives in Monmouth
