English-Medium Instruction in Turkish Universities Kari Sahan, 2024-02-23 In response to the growing use of English as an international language the number of English medium instruction EMI programs in higher education has increased However decisions to implement EMI programs are often made through top down policymaking processes with little consideration for the educational issues surrounding language policy changes This book examines the variation with which EMI is implemented at universities in Turkey through a multilevel empirical investigation of policies practices and perceptions In addition to providing a sociohistorical overview of EMI in Turkey the book draws on a dataset that includes policy documents classroom observations interviews with teachers and focus group discussions with students Despite national policies which envision a one language at a time model of EMI education this book argues that EMI is neither English only nor English always in practice By highlighting the variation with which EMI is implemented at and across Turkish universities this study illustrates the need for more comprehensive EMI policies and processes aimed at integrating content and language learning in higher education Implications are discussed with respect to policy planning program development and pedagogical support and will be relevant for researchers and postgraduate research students interested in EMI particularly in the Turkish context
