How can the coefficients in a chemical equation be interpreted?

NATALIA
LACAYO
P. 2

Why?

A balanced chemical equation can tell us the number of reactant and product particles (ions, atoms, molecules or formula units) that are necessary to conserve mass during a chemical reaction. Typically when we balance the chemical equation we think in terms of individual particles. However, in real life the reaction represented by an equation occurs an unimaginable number of times. Short of writing very large numbers (10^{23} or larger) in front of each chemical in the equation, how can we interpret chemical equations so that they more realistically represent what is happening in real life? In this activity you will explore the different ways a chemical reaction can be interpreted.

Model 1 – A Chemical Reaction

1. Consider the reaction in Model 1.

a. What are the coefficients for each of the following substances in the reaction?

1 N_2

3 H_2

2 NH_3

b. Draw particle models below to illustrate the reaction in Model 1.

2. Consider each situation below as it relates to the reaction in Model 1.

a. Calculate the amount of reactants consumed and products made.

b. Record the ratio of N_2 to H_2 to NH_3 . Reduce the ratio to the lowest whole numbers possible.

	N_2 Consumed	H_2 Consumed	NH_3 Produced	Ratio $\text{N}_2:\text{H}_2:\text{NH}_3$ (reduced)
For a single reaction, how many molecules of each substance would be consumed or produced?	1	3	2	1:3:2
If the reaction occurred one hundred times, how many molecules would be consumed or produced?	100	300	200	1:3:2
If the reaction occurred 538 times, how many molecules would be consumed or produced?	538	1614	1076	1:3:2

Valley, Hugh P. Taylor, James R. O'Neil, 2018-12-17 Volume 16 of Reviews in Mineralogy introduces to high temperature stable isotope geochemistry and should provide an entry into the pertinent literature as well as some understanding of the basic concepts and potential applications The first three chapters focus on the theory and experimental data base for equilibrium disequilibrium and kinetics of stable isotope exchange reactions among geologically important minerals and fluids The fourth chapter discusses the primordial oxygen isotope variations in the solar system prior to formation of the Earth along with a discussion of isotopic anomalies in meteorites The fifth chapter discusses isotopic variations in the Earth's mantle and the sixth chapter reviews the variations in the isotopic compositions of natural waters on our planet In Chapters 7 8 9 and 10 these isotopic constraints and concepts are applied to various facets of the origin and evolution of igneous rocks bringing in much material on radiogenic isotopes as well because these problems require a multi dimensional attack for their solution In Chapters 11 and 12 the problems of hydrothermal alteration by meteoric waters and ocean water are considered together with discussions of the physics and chemistry of hydrothermal systems and the ^{18}O ^{16}O history of ocean water Finally in Chapters 13 and 14 these concepts are applied to problems of metamorphic petrology and ore deposits particularly with respect to the origins of the fluids involved in those processes
