Davies, Zim Nwokora, Eli Stamnes, Sarah Teitt, 2013-08-08 In Responsibility to Protect and Women Peace and Security Aligning the Protection Agendas editors Davies Nwokora Stamnes and Teitt address the intersections of the Responsibility to Protect R2P principle and the Women Peace and Security WPS agenda Widespread or systematic sexual or gender based violence is a war crime a crime against humanity and an act of genocide all of which are clearly addressed in the R2P principle The protection of those at risk of widespread sexual violence is therefore not only relative to the Women Peace and Security WPS agenda but a fundamental sovereign obligation for all states as part of their commitment to R2P Contributions from policy makers and academics consider both the merits and the utility of aligning the protection agendas of R2P and WPS Ultimately a number of actionable recommendations are made concerning a unification of the agendas to best support the global empowerment of women and prevention of mass atrocities Windows of Opportunity Miriam J. Anderson, 2015-12-01 In 1915 women from over thirty countries met in The Hague to express opposition to World War I and propose ways to end it The delegates made three demands for women to be present at all international peace conferences a women s only peace conference to be convened alongside any official negotiations and the establishment of universal suffrage While these demands went unmet at the time contemporary women s groups continue to seek participation in peace negotiations and to have language promoting gender equality inserted into all peace agreements Between 1975 and 2011 about 40% of all conflicts that produced peace agreements resulted in at least one with references to women Many of these clauses addressed compensation for wartime gender based violence and guarantees for women s participation in the post conflict transitional period Others included electoral quotas and changes to inheritance legislation

Curiously the language used to address women is near consistent across these agreements and that is because it reflects international women s rights norms rather than more local norms. Why is it that though a peace agreement s primary objective is to end conflict some include potentially controversial provisions about gender that might delay or complicate reaching an agreement. Why do these provisions echo international norms rather than local cultural ones. And which factors make it more likely that women s rights will appear in peace agreements. Windows of Opportunity answers these questions by examining peace negotiations in Burundi Macedonia and Northern Ireland along with 195 peace agreements signed between 1975 and 2011. It looks at the key actors involved in lobbying for women s participation along with their motivations objectives and strategies. It also explores the reasons for similarities among the gender provisions. Security Mom Juliette Kayyem, 2016-04-05.
