Lesson 7 The Ugly Vegetables:

The Ugly Vegetables Grace Lin, 1999-07-01 In this charming story about celebrating differences a Chinese American girl wishes for a garden of bright flowers instead of one full of bumpy ugly vegetables The neighbors gardens look so much prettier and so much more inviting to the young gardener than the garden of black purple green vines fuzzy wrinkled leaves prickly stems and a few little yellow flowers that she and her mother grow Nevertheless mother assures her that these are better than flowers Come harvest time everyone agrees as those ugly Chinese vegetables become the tastiest most aromatic soup they have ever known As the neighborhood comes together to share flowers and ugly vegetable soup the young gardener learns that regardless of appearances everything has its own beauty and purpose THE UGLY VEGETABLES springs forth with the bright and cheerful colors of blooming flowers and lumpy vegetables Grace Lin's playful illustrations pour forth with abundant treasures Complete with a guide to the Chinese pronunciation of the vegetables and the recipe for ugly vegetable soup

The Ugly Vegetables Grace Lin, 2001-07 A little girl thinks her mother's garden is the ugliest in the neighborhood until she discovers that flowers might look and smell pretty but Chinese vegetable soup smells best of all Includes a recipe

The Architecture of Error Francesca Hughes, 2014-11-07 Why the rise of redundant precision in architecture and the accompanying fear of error are key to understanding the discipline's needs anxieties and desires When architects draw even brick walls to six decimal places with software designed to cut lenses it is clear that the logic that once organized relations between precision and material error in construction has unraveled Precision already a promiscuous term seems now to have been uncoupled from its contract with truthfulness Meanwhile error and the always political space of its dissent has reconfigured itself In The Architecture of Error Francesca Hughes argues that behind the architect's acute fetishization of redundant precision lies a special fear of physical error What if we were to consider the pivotal cultural and technological transformations of modernism to have been driven not so much by the causes its narratives declare she asks as by an unspoken horror of loss of control over error material life and everything that matter stands for Hughes traces the rising intolerance of material vagaries from the removal of ornament to digitalized fabrication that produced the blind rejection of organic materials the proliferation of material testing and the rhetorical obstacles that blighted cybernetics Why is it she asks that the more we cornered physical error the more we feared it Hughes's analysis of redundant precision exposes an architecture of fear whose politics must be called into question Proposing error as a new category for architectural thought

Hughes draws on other disciplines and practices that have interrogated precision and failure citing the work of scientists Nancy Cartwright and Evelyn Fox Keller and visual artists Gordon Matta Clark Barbara Hepworth Rachel Whiteread and others These non architect practitioners she argues show that error need not be excluded and precision can be made accountable
