The Films of the Eighties Robert A. Nowlan, 1991-01-01 The 1980s had more than its share of both emerging stars and final tributes paid to luminaries as well as smash hits and bombs memorable and boring performances and new trends and tried and true formula offerings The Film of the Eighties includes numerous examples of all of these Each entry has the year of release production company country of origin U S U K Australian Canadian leading performers and the characters they portrayed and comprehensive credits A brief description review and evaluation of the film's cinematic values if any are also provided

International Books in Print, 1997 The Oxford Encyclopedia of Children's Literature: Aamu-Duan Jack Zipes, 2006 Children's literature first became a distinct body of writing and publishing in the eighteenth century Until the seventeenth century children were usually considered as smaller versions of adults As the notion of childhood as a distinct part of life emerged a distinct body of literature emerged as well designed both to entertain and edify this new class of readers But for much of its history books written for children were not seen as worthy of scholarly attention Recently this has changed with everyone from literary critics to psychologists to anthropologists to historians studying this incredibly rich outpouring The Oxford Encyclopedia of Children's Literature is the first multi volume set to document and interpret the books read by children in the English speaking world It includes brief biographies of every major author and illustrator and features essays on all genres of children's literature individual works and prominent trends and themes as well as general essays on the traditions of children's literature in many country in the world A future Oxford Digital Reference Shelf title For more information visit <http://www.oxfordonline.digitalreference> All Hands, 1996 Singing, 1926 Encore, 1926

Winning the Race John McWhorter, 2006-12-28 In his first major book on the state of black America since the New York Times bestseller Losing the Race John McWhorter argues that a renewed commitment to achievement and integration is the only cure for the crisis in the African American community Winning the Race examines the roots of the serious problems facing black Americans today poverty drugs and high incarceration rates and contends that none of the commonly accepted reasons can explain the decline of black communities since the end of segregation in the 1960s Instead McWhorter posits that a sense of victimhood and alienation that came to the fore during the civil rights era has persisted to the present day in black culture even though most blacks today have never experienced the racism of the segregation era McWhorter traces the effects of this disempowering conception of black identity from the validation of living permanently on welfare to gansta rap s glorification of irresponsibility and violence as a means of protest He discusses particularly specious claims of racism attacks the destructive posturing of black leaders and the hip hop academics and laments that a successful black person must be faced with charges of acting white While acknowledging that racism still exists in America today McWhorter argues that both blacks and whites must move past blaming racism for every challenge blacks face and outlines the steps necessary for improving the future of black America Who's who in the West ,2000 Commerce Business Daily ,1999-10
