We Do Things Differently Mark Stevenson, 2018-01-16 There is hope for us yet Stevenson's engaging commentary has the ability to restore your faith in human ingenuity in the face of adversity. Geographical magazine: Our systems are failing. Old models for education, healthcare, and government food production, energy supply are creaking under the weight of modern challenges. As the world's population heads towards 10 billion, it's clear we need new approaches. In We Do Things Differently, historian and futurologist Mark Stevenson sets out to find them across four continents. From Brazilian favelas to high tech Boston, from rural India to a shed inventor in England's home counties, Mark Stevenson travels the world to find the advance guard reimagining our future. At each stop, he meets innovators who have already succeeded in challenging the status quo, pioneering new ways to make our world more sustainable, equitable, and humane. Populated by extraordinary characters including Detroit citizens who created new jobs and promoted healthy eating by building greenhouses, an Austrian mayor who built a new biomass plant using the by-product of a local flooring company, and an Indian doctor who crowdsourced his research and published his findings online, We Do Things Differently paints a riveting picture of what can be done to address the world's most pressing dilemmas, offering a much-needed dose of down-to-earth optimism. It is a window on and a roadmap to a different and better future. Stevenson writes with enormous warmth and humor. Cory Doctorow
